

HORSE SENSE AND NONSENSE
By ALICE E. MORGAN

PET PEEVES
We are, this week, devoting our time to trips. Our own and those of persons we meet on the street and greet in the office.
There seems to be one pet that is everyone's pet—the man who slams into the intersection just about the time you are half-way across, then jams on his brakes and squeals to a stop, about your heart failure. You have visions of the crowd that gathers, of the ambulance pulling up, and the remains being removed.
You glare, the driver grins, and show three times during one show. He then wanders up and down the aisle, screaming lustily, while daddy and mother wave to show where they are.

And then comes the court hog. Any number of people like to play tennis. A lovely summer afternoon tempts them to don shorts and sneakers, grab racket and ball, and head for the courts. Inevitably, if they are good players, they find a couple of dubs have taken over, to practice. They make two or three shots and then lean over the net to discuss their shortcomings. Slowly the afternoon fades into the past. The player takes racket and ball and returns home to get out of the sneakers and shorts.

ANOTHER SUMMER port is the man with the radio. You find a nice quiet spot for a picnic and are enjoying an afternoon "away from it all."
A car stops in the next area, everyone piles out—and horror of horrors—there's a great big portable radio. All afternoon the drone of a baseball game chatters the quiet.

Another one of the world's less popular citizens is the man who has gathered the impression that automobile horns have replaced door bells.
In itself, this is not too bad, but when you tell what he wants someone to get out of his way, or whether he's calling someone. If you are the party he wants, it can give you a merry chase during those final minutes of dressing. You rush madly to the window every time there's a "Beeeeeep!" from the street.
If you're planning an evening at home, it has another form of annoyance for you. It can mean you're about to be invaded by guests or that the uninvited squawks just as your favorite comedian gives with the punch line.

MOST OF us also love the guy who waits his lawn along with half the city block.
He sets the sprinkler going and then takes off for a short trip to the store, garage or what have you. The sprinkler sways back and forth, as all good sprinklers should do, sending the pedestrian surreying into the street or Perfect Reward for Achievement!

WHEN A MAN PLANS and dares and endeavors until he achieves something out of the ordinary—few would deny him some taste of the fruits of his labor.
"Tis toil's reward that sweetens industry."
"As you have sown, so also shall you reap."
"According to the labour, so is the reward."
And we believe sincerely that—for the average man—there is no sweeter personal reward for achievement than a Cadillac car.
First of all, it is the perfect symbol of attainment. In almost every community where adequate highways exist, Cadillac is known and recognized as the overwhelming favorite of the world's distinguished people.
And few possessions, indeed, can give so much personal happiness to their owners—during so many days in the year.
A Cadillac car is a constant joy to drive. You can sit at the wheel, for hour after hour, completely at ease. Many owners say they drive hundreds of miles each week—just for pleasure and relaxation.
And it adds so much to your satisfaction to know that economy goes with you—each miliary you drive.

It actually costs less to buy the lower-priced Cadillacs than certain models of numerous other makes of cars. A single tankful of gasoline will usually suffice for a full day's drive. And the full lifespan of a Cadillac has never yet been measured.
If you are one who has planned and labored until you've earned something special for yourself—come in and see us.
We know you'd enjoy a Cadillac—and even your severest critic would have to admit that it's a practical car to buy.

IT'S A SHAME that the great American pastime—eating ice cream—can raise temperatures, but it does. Somehow, householders have little or no use for the man (woman or child) who finishes a cone and drops the tip on his lawn. Nor do they have a deep appreciation for the sticks and wrappers from frozen bars that are scattered around the street.
JUST ABOUT the worst, though, and one hated in every corner of this fair land of ours is the man who, when the temperature stands at 100 in the shade and there's no shade, remarks gaily: "Hot enough for you?"
