Nelsons Return From Cruise on Liner "Quebec"

Mrs. David Nelson and her daughter, Claire, returned last weekend to their home on Lake Angelus from a Saguenay, Cruise in Canada. They stopped over in the city of Quebec for several days, where they were guests at the Chateau-Frontenac.

During their trip, the Nelsons were passengers aboard the Canada Steamship Lines cruise ship, Quebec, which caught fire in St. Lawrence River Monday night. The Quebec is a sister ship of the Noronic, which burned at its dock in Toronto on September 17, 1949.

She Who Stoops, Can't Conquer

"THERE is nothing like a dame..." Particularly one who has a poor posture. Chic clothes and a trim figure may bedazzle a man but not for long if you're one of those women whose droop has become a stoop.

One of the best ways to find out if you're keeping up a good back—and not merely a good front—is to consult your mirror. Does your posture radiate alertness? Do you appear vibrant, bouncy and animated? Or do you have that sagging jellyfish stance that's sure to dimmy bene or bluff?

If your mirror reveals curves fit the wrong places, try these exercises, designed to help you achieve an erect but natural posture.

Begin by holding your arms straight at your sides. Lift them to shoulder level and swing them forward until your hands meet; then reverse the motion and swing your arms backward as far as they will go. Do this several times each day to relax and loosen your shoulder muscles.

A second set of muscles can be put into play by swinging your arms to an overhead position. This movement, which should be smooth and well-coordinated, is made up of three steps.

First lift your arms from a dangling, hands-at-high position to a vertical reach above your head. Stretch them as high as they will go. Then suddenly relax your elbows, allowing your hands to bounce lightly upon the top of your head. The final step is to fling them outward, and then downward again to their original position.

After a few weeks of these exercises, your carriage will express a determination to conquer all and your new attractiveness will win you a host of compliments.

A forward and backward swing, as far as the arms will reach, will help her achieve an upright but easy and relaxed posture.

Bryson Cast in Hart-Kaufman Comedy, "George Washington Slept Here"

"George Washington Slept Here," first produced in New York late in 1940 and at Will-O-Way late in 1941, will be revived by Michigan's oldest summer "straw hat" theater as the fifth production in their tenth anniversary year.

The production will open Tuesday, August 22 and run through September 3. All the other comedies presented at Will-O-Way this year have been of the current crop but the appeal of this famous show has been undiminished and the "suggestion box" requests have prompted its return.

Produced by Jocelyn Kemble, Gerald M. Harrington will do the suave "summer theater" star, Clayton Evans while Tom DeGraffenried will play the part of the irascible and pretentious "Uncle Stanley."

OTHERS in the cast include Treasa Way, Merrill and Mrs. Douglas, Bettie Hyman as Rene Leslie, Dianne Barry as Hester, Harriet...

ONE OF THE finest Will-O-Way veterans, comedian Robert Bryson, who appeared in their very first show back in 1940, will costar in "Newlyweds" with Martha Morrison as his garcise and sophisticated wife, Annabelle.

Miss Morrison starred as Mother this year, in "Life With Mother" and Bryson is ideally suited to the role of a New Yorker who has always longed for a place in the country—close to nature—preferably one with an historic background. He finds one, and buys it, sight unseen—an abandoned farmhouse somewhere in Pennsylvania.

WHAT HAPPENS when he tells his family that this dilapidated old stone house, dating back to the Revolutionary days, is their future home and not just another stop-off on a sight-seeing trip, climaxes in one word, "trouble."

Their efforts to make it livable with the help of Mr. Kimber, played by Barney O'Rourke, who scored heavily in "Heaven Can Wait" and against an unscrupulously Mr. Prescott, played by versatile John Keenan, are the bases for three hilarious acts.

FRED TAYLOR, Will-O-Way stage manager, usually cast in comedy roles, draws the romantic lead as Steve Eldridge who is in love with Madge Fuller, the daughter, played by Jocelyn Kemble.

Gerald M. Harrington will do the suave "summer theater" star, Clayton Evans while Tom DeGraffenried will play the part of the irascible and pretentious "Uncle Stanley."

OTHERS in the cast include Treasa Way, Merrill and Mrs. Douglas, Bettie Hyman as Rene Leslie, Dianne Barry as Hester, Harriet...

Bennet as Katie, Bruce Richards as Raymond, Bob Jones as Leggett Fraser, Max Cornell as Tom Hughes, Neil DeGraffenried as Bill Graham, Maureen Bayley as Joan Norton, Dolores Rhoads as Miss Wilcox and Paula Paris as Betty Holliday.
