AAUW Children's Theater Group To Begin 7th Season

The Children's Theater Group of the Birmingham branch of the American Association of University Women will hold tryouts for their first production of the 1950-51 season on Wednesday, September 6, at 1:00 p.m. in the Community House.

The play, "The Silver Arrowhead," written by two local girls, the Misses Shirley and Louise Hersey, will be presented on October 12. Anyone interested in acting or dancing is asked by the group to be at the tryouts and it is not necessary to be a member of the A.A.U.W. to participate in the activities of the Children's Theater Group.

THIS WILL BE the seventh consecutive year in which the group has presented stage plays to the children of Birmingham. The series has become a civic project, continued only for the pleasure of the children, and any profits are used for the benefit of child health and education.

Announcement will be made later concerning the complete season's program and ticket distribution.

THE 1950-51 OFFICERS of the Children's Theater Group are co-chairmen, Mrs. William E. Keigel and Mrs. Stanley R. Hood; secretary, Mrs. Jack D. Garrison; treasurer, Mrs. Robert T. Fuller; business manager, Mrs. Clarence W. Blount; school representative, Mrs. William M. Willigan; work group manager, Mrs. Richard T. Hatch; social manager, Mrs. George S. Dix and institutional program co-managers, Mrs. Frank D. Webb and Mrs. W. F. Skinner.

"The Silver Arrowhead" will be directed by Mrs. Winston T. Kellogg with Mrs. John F. Hollister as assistant director.

Couple To Live in Bozeman Following Montana Rites

St. James Episcopal church in Bozeman, Mont., was the setting for last Saturday's rites which united in marriage Miss Jo Ann May Peck and B. Shepard Crim.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey E. Peck tero, trimmed in rose-point lace and the bridegroom's mother's wedding gown.

Her full-length heirloom lace veil was also worn by Mrs. Crim in her wedding, and she carried a bouquet arrangement of cream roses.

Miss Marilyn Lawson of Seattle, Wash., a sorority sister of the bride, attended as matron of honor. Her ballerina length gown was of green satin, accented by white face mitts and a tiara of white gladioli buds in her hair, and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli.

of Great Falls, Mont., and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Crim of Beverly road.

The Rev. J. Donald Skinner officiated in the seven o'clock evening service, for which the couple used the same kneeling pillows previously used by Miss Peck's parents.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride was gowned in ivory slipper satin, fashioned with a chapel train. Over the tight fitting bodice was a long-sleeved bo-

MISS MARGARET JOANNA CRIM, sister of the bridegroom, served as bridesmaid. Her gown was of pale lavender satin with a white ribbon sash, white lace veils and a tiara of white gladioli in her hair. The same flowers were repeated in her bouquet.

William D. Crim, Jr., assisted his brother as best man and seating the guests were Thomas Hubbard of Dorchester road and William Houston of Birmingham and Haden, Texas.

A RECEPTION in the St. James parish house followed the ceremony, where the guests were greeted by Mrs. Peck who was wearing a light aqua dinner dress with a small floral hat and white rose corsage.

The bride's ensemble for her wedding trip was a sheath dress of grey silk shantung with a red velvet bolero and black accessories.

Following a motor trip through the west, the young Mr. and Mrs. Crim will make their home in Bozeman, where he is a student in the agricultural engineering school of Montana State college.

Local Couple United In Marriage at Christ Church

The Rev. Lawrence Pearson, with the Rev. William Mead assisting, read the 8:30 service at Christ Church Cranbrook last Saturday evening, in which Miss Marjorie Ann Vehmeyer became the bride of Richard Lionel Wibel.

Miss Vehmeyer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Vehmeyer of Shirley drive and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Wibel of Oakland avenue.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride was gowned in white satin accented by squares of marquisette embroidered in seed pearls trimming the neck and shoulders and long satin sleeves. Her illusion veil fell from a Finnish lace Juliet cap and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and white orchids.

Mr. John F. Cole, Jr., was her sister's matron of honor and Miss Patricia Higbie attended as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Pierce, Mrs. Lowell Carr of Akron, O., the former Margaret Mead of Birmingham, Miss Anita Hay of Englewood, N. J., the bride's roommate at Marjorie Webster college and Miss Janice Upmeyer, a cousin of the bride.

ALL THE attendants were gowned alike in pink organza with Juliet caps of pink velvet, and they carried arrangements of chrysanthemums.

William Wibel assisted his brother as best man and the ushers were Don J. Sweeney, Robert Pierce, Laddie Vickers of Vicksburg, Miss. and Stanley Conrad of Louisville, Ky., the bridegroom's brother-in-law.

for a honeymoon in Wauchon, Miss., the new Mrs. Wibel donned a suit of navy sheer wool with huge accessories.

TOUCH AND GLOW

The average living room is used more by artificial light than in daylight, so the choice of lamps and their positions in the room are of vital importance. The plan of a room should include three types of light: direct—for reading or close work; semi-direct—for beauty; and indirect—for general illumination. Floor and table lamps that cast light down fur-height generally ranges from 30 to 36 inches, except in some provincial-type rooms where smaller lamps fit in better. Reading lamps in any room should be high enough to cast light on the book, not on the floor.

Note how the lamps in the room sketched above are all on the same level. Also, the pair of lamps—like the pair of chairs—are balancing unit.

Lamps are important furnishings and should be chosen with care and discrimination. Let us help you choose yours, too! You'll
