Let's Chat!

ONCE again you and I are preparing to say "so long" to another year. Within a matter of hours, now this old planet will spin its way out of 1950 and into the new 1951. Our high hopes will be for high peace, understanding and better things for everyone.

Now, let me chat for a moment about the coming weekend, and of course about New Year's Eve. With another long weekend coming for most of us there will be additional meals to be prepared and friends will be dropping in and eating food stopping will have to be done.

My best tip is to get your food shopping done promptly. . . . on Friday, if possible, about one hour before the party. It's only a short drive to Packers, and there's no parking problem.

When you come to the Meat Department you'll be able to Serve Yourself (and save time) because precisely everything is prepackaged for extra convenience. This modern method of selecting your meats has become highly popular across the nation, and practically every modern supermarket has a Prepackaged Meat Department.

At Packers the prepackaging is done under skilled supervision, and under rigid sanitary conditions. Package displays are constantly fresh, and it's a downright welcome to see, and inspect the various pieces and cuts you want. Another point of interest is the fact that prepackaging is done right in the market . . . and minutes later those packages are on display waiting for you. Shoppers like this modern idea because it saves time, . . . and particularly because they can see exactly what they are buying.

Then, along comes the woman who does not see what she wants. That's no problem because there is a Special Cut Butcher on hand to serve that woman. He will bring out exactly what she wants . . . and is glad to serve . . .

The kids who found sleds under their Christmas trees were surely happy on Tuesday morning . . . after that good snowfall. And speaking of Christmas Trees . . . did Santa leave you just what you wanted under your tree? He was good to your truly! . . . thanks to someone.

By the way . . . you'll want the best in baked goods for the weekend, and I recommend those good things you'll see in the Awrey Bakers at Packers. Quality is a "must" with the Awrey folks, . . . and I haven't seen a better selection anywhere.

A suggestion now, for good TV watching . . . and good radio listening, if the kids haven't already got you interested. The CISCO KID goes through an exciting (and romantic) adventure of the old West on your television set every Thursday night at seven o'clock. More in channel 7 . . . that's WKXZ-TV, and you'll have thirty minutes of good entertainment. For exciting radio listening tune in CKLW every Tuesday and Thursday at eight o'clock . . . the CISCO KID . . . and they're good stories. The Packers Super Markets sponsor "The Kid" on both TV and Radio . . . and you're invited to look in, and listen in.

Happy 1951 to you all!

Jack Packard
