

State Police Open Ranks to More Recruits

The Michigan State Police have opened up recruiting in preparation for training school session to start shortly after the holidays. Commissioner Donald S. Leonard said this week.

Men interested in joining the department may obtain further information by going to any State Police post or by writing to the State Civil Service Commission or the State Police headquarters in East Lansing.

Applications should be filed at once, so that qualifications procedures can be completed in time for candidates to enter the school.

Candidates may be married or single, but must be between the ages of 21 and 30 inclusive, not less than five feet 10 inches in height, of good physical build and in good health. Draft status also will be considered.

During the nine-week school session trainees are paid $100 a month and live at the school.

GRADUATES ARE SWORN in as troopers and in addition to salary receive a subsistence allowance, uniforms and equipment and lodging. The position offers security and interesting work and, in addition, State Police are eligible for retirement on pension at the end of 25 years of service.

The school is being held to fill 40 vacancies in the department. Another school now in session will close December 11 and will add 60 troopers authorized in September by the legislature.

Goodfellows Plan Annual Paper Sale In Southfield Twp.

The annual Southfield Goodfellows paper sale will take place Friday, Dec. 15, according to Mrs. E. F. Packard, president of the township Goodfellows organization.

Various businessmen, firemen and volunteers will be at the township street corners and also go from house to house selling the paper.

The organization sponsored a variety show last Saturday evening, at which all entertainers donated their services. Mrs. Packard said the turnout wasn't as large as expected, although some who bought tickets didn't attend.

APPROXIMATELY 200 children in the township will receive clothing, toys and candy this year, the president pointed out. Last year 25 baskets of groceries were distributed.

Members of some groups in Southfield have been sewing at their meetings this year, and have contributed articles they have made to the Goodfellows. About 25 township groups are on the Goodfellows roll call.

Mrs. Packard said that the Goodfellows hope to make the variety show an annual affair.

General display advertising deadline is 5 p.m. each Tuesday.
