of the bride on Bermuda street.

For her wedding, Miss McCabe was given in embroidered white organdy and her full two-tiered skirt of ballerina length and the cuff of her close fitting bodice were edged with the embroidery.

Her short veil of illusion was held by a wreath of lily-of-the-valley. She carried a prayer book topped with a white orchid which held a ribbon shower entwined with staphanotis.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Florence McCabe who wore pale blue organdy and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of yellow rose buds.

John J. McCabe, Jr., brother of the bride, acted as best man and the guests were seated by Allison Williams of St. Petersburg, Fla.

For her daughter's wedding and reception, Mrs. McCabe chose a gown of blue lace matching hat and a gardenia corsage. Mrs. Neely, the bridegroom's mother, wore an afternoon suit of coral marquisette with a horseshoe hat trimmed with black velvet and a white orchid pinned to her shoulder.

For her honeymoon, the bride was given a tailored dress of printed green and white silk organdy and a white pique hat with black velvet crown and a white ribbon. After a motor trip to points in southern Florida, the young couple will make their home in Clearwater.

Two Leading Roles Announced for "Millennium Sunday"

The recent castings of Dana Elcar and David Pludt for leading roles in the new dance-drama, "Millennium Sunday" have been announced by the director, Austin Jones.

The production is scheduled for performance at the Greek Theater of Cranbrook on the evenings of August 25 and 26.

Elcar is already familiar to local audiences through his work with the Cranbrook Summer School of the Theater and with the Studio Players where he is appearing this week in "Private Lives".

DURING THE PAST year he has been associated with the Brattle Theater at Cambridge, Mass., where he played in a production of "King Lear".

He was also director of the spring production of T. S. Eliot's "Murder in the Cathedral" which was produced at the University of Michigan and Christ Church Cranbrook.

The audience of "Millennium Sunday" will see Dana in a powerful role of the Devil in the struggle of a revival meeting.

THE OPPOSING ROLE of a minister attempting to guide his people to redemption will be played by David Pludt of Berkeley. He first appeared to Birmingham audiences in the independent Theater production of "The Cherry Orchard" at Christ Church Cranbrook, 3 years ago.

With dramatic training from the Goodman Theater in Chicago, Pludt spent last year as assistant director of the Royal Oak Junior Theater. At present he is a director of the Studio Players.

Pine Lake Luncheon

Pine Lake Country Club will have a ladies' bridge luncheon for members and their guests at 12:30 p.m. on July 19.
