Fred Alger Speaks to GOP Leaders at Tuesday Luncheon

Fred M. Alger Jr., Michigan Secretary of State, was honored at a luncheon at the Caprouse, just south of Birmingham, Tuesday noon where he addressed city commissioners.

F. M. ALGER, JR.

100 Oakland County Republican leaders.

His local appearance is part of his political swing around the state to build up in his campaign strength to win the Republican nomination for governor at the September primary election.

Alger narrated briefly some of his personal and business background, together with a score of years of interest and activity on behalf of clean government.

IN 1937 he led a successful

Wayne County movement to kick out boss-control. He became successful in 1947. He now is managing his second term in Lansing.

He made an special appeal to those attending Tuesday remarks, holding that "youth must interest itself in the issues of decent and economical government, since we are called upon to pay the tremendous costs of government, so wasteful under New Deal and Fair Deal programs."

He believes Michigan, by curtailing all unnecessary government services, by more intensively dispensing its current tax returns, can live within its budget without new general fund taxes.

WHEN ASKED about the need for improved roads, Alger said: "If we can get the federal government out of the gasoline tax business, and get this money for Michigan, we ought to be able to maintain a satisfactory road program without additional taxes."

If we can't do this, then I see no other thing to do but to add a slight tax to the gasoline tax, I believe, that the oil companies will absorb without raising total prices.

"I also believe that if the Republicans can elect more Congressmen this fall, a President in 1952, we will be able to cut out much federal extravagance and thus lower taxes for all."

Alger strongly emphasized the need for the Republicans to work hard prior to and during the forthcoming fall elections, to the end that a maximum of its voters will register their convictions against the drift toward a socialist state.

"MICHIGAN AND Detroit are known as the 'arsenal of democracy', and its people poured out the munitions of war to defend the nation during the last war," Alger said.

"Today Michigan must rally to the cause of liberty and freedom by becoming the civic arsenal of democracy—the type of arsenal that alone can keep America free from internal destruction."

Prosecutor Urges Second Warrant for Shoplifters

Joseph Faison, Ruth Harris and Augusta Washington, three Detroiters arrested here June 1 on charges of shoplifting, entered pleas of guilty to simple larceny when examined last Friday. Each was sentenced to 15 days in the Oakland county jail and to pay $10 fines.

George Taylor of the county prosecutor's office said Tuesday afternoon that he had strongly recommended the complaining witness of a second charge, the Doris Hayes shop in Oxford, to appear at his office and secure a second warrant before their current jail sentence expires.

"I'm firmly convinced," Taylor said, "that this trio is a part of a professional ring operating in this area. I'd like to see the county cleaned up right now as far as they are concerned, and the present sentence will not do it."

The three were arrested here when Patrolman Robert Schaule noticed their license number which had been broadcast over a state alarm after the Oxford shop was robbed.

Driver Arrested Twice During Month; Draws $110 Fine

Albert F. Pettit of Pontiac paid a $110 fine plus $10 court costs Monday in preference to a 90-day jail term after he pleaded guilty in Bloomfield Hills Justice court to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

This was Pettit's second traffic offense in the Hills within the past month. He was arrested May 21 for reckless driving and paid a $50 fine at that time.

Marston W. Delle of Pontiac was fined $45 Monday morning by Justice Awa Richardson for reckless driving through Bloomfield Hills.

JOHN SANTANGELO and Stanley Lyszczyk, both of Detroit, were arrested Sunday evening for reckless driving. Police reported they were racing.

They each posted a bond of $50 and will be brought before Richardson at 10 a. m. Saturday, June 24.

This & That

BUT DON'T EXPECT the Truman Administration to go for lower taxes. They have the public so confused about economic matters today that they are able to "tax and spend... tax and spend some more." That, they think, helps them to remain in office. Indeed, it has, to date.

But, Mr. Editor, I believe the American people are just beginning to see through a lot of this political humbug, and when they note this fall I think they'll show themselves against those candidates who are willing to travel down the road to Socialism and the Welfare State.

Certainly, I sympathize with all honest businessmen who have grownly struggling to keep their heads above the water. That's why I don't want them to accept government loans under the Truman plan—it would be like throwing them a hunk of pig iron when they need a life-preserver to keep them afloat.

Government supervision and control of business is like pig iron; decrease in unnecessary government spending will lower taxes and lowering taxes will be like throwing the life-preserver.

SPECIALIZED ART instruction will be available to individuals interested in the craft shop. This endeavor will not start, however, until the complete summer program will be under way.

Socialized competitive tournaments will be held daily for all those who wish to test specialized skills. About 40 different events are planned for the season.

The Barnum scholastic craft shop will be open with the Junior Track Olympics sponsored by Birmingham Side Line Quarterbacks and held on the Pierce field track Saturday, June 24 at 1:30 p. m.

Forty-six events will be conducted for boys in the age groups of 10—11; 12—13; 14—15; and 16 and over. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded.

A teen-age baseball league will be formed for boys. Evening games will be scheduled. High Loveland, Barnum Junior high coach, will direct the program.
