Foresman-Hart Rites Solemnized

MRS. STANLEY FORESMAN

The marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Hart to Stanley Gail Foresman on Monday, June 5, has been announced by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Linton Hart of Argyle boulevard.

The ceremony was performed at 6:30 p.m. in St. Dunstan chapel of Christ Church Cranbrook by the Rev. Robert L. DeWitt.

The bride selected a summery gown of white marquisette, fashioned with an off the shoulder neckline and floor length hooped skirt. A band of the same material held her short veil.

She carried a bridal bouquet of garden flowers in very light shades.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Nancy Hart, who wore an identical styled gown of pink organdy. Her bouquet was also the same as the bride's, but in deeper shades.

The room of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Foresman of Vista, Calif., named his brother, Eugene Foresman as best man. William C. Cook, Larry Fox and Daniel Moody seated the guests.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served on the terrace of the Hart home.

Mr. and Mrs. Foresman will spend the summer in California and will be at Ithaca, N. Y., for the coming university term.

The Line Is Busy

By DORIS E. ALLEN

Those magazines which are especially dedicated to the home are truly terrific things. It seems as if no idea or scheme or combination has been left unturned. Leafing through just casually the reader is amazed at the variety and selection offered in the line of making a home distinctive.

There are color shots of starkly and effectively done abodes, complete with color schemes and floor plans. There are more color shots, this time of period-styled houses and rooms, complete with the whole works down to the shade of bathroom towels. There are in-between designs and there are extreme designs. There's a lot of everything.

That there is so much to choose from it perhaps what causes the dither; the problem of making up one's mind in one direction or another. One becomes bewildered after awhile and finds a burning desire to have a little bit of everything since one section of one certain type of room pictured looked so very fetching and another in another type just as catching and effective. Pity on the poor impressionable soul!

Imagine what it would be like! A frilly, colonial bedroom with fringed, Indian blankets, utterly enchanting. Step into the next room and find a rustic, heavily beamed, lodge-like recreation-living room. Discover a modern, stream-lined kitchen with ancient copper utensils dangling from the walls. Throw it all together with a medieval type dining room with ferociously heavy furniture.

Picture a hodgepodge-conglomeration of shag scatter rugs, bear skins, Indian blankets, patterned, heavy curtains, oriental carpets, black marble fireplaces (those open corner modern numbers), grass mats on the floor, checked tablecloths and some of the new-design kinds of furniture.

And, the final touch—everything, of course, in accessories so inexpensively done. Just some old tin hat and a little bit of this, a mile of that (plus some expert artistry and ingenuity and hard work of the next ten years), and low and behold, the magazine is all but for five dollars. Guess it all boils down to live and learn.
