

Stonycroft Gets New Management

Stonycroft Golf Club, popular nine-hole course in Bloomfield Hills, is now under new management. It is being operated by Mrs. Jack Getz who has obtained the lease on the property. Mrs. Getz is the wife of Jack Getz, manager of Birmingham Country Club.

According to the new manager, many extensive improvements are being planned both on the course and in the clubhouse. Full construction will add a new kitchen and enlarged dining room space to the clubhouse. Mrs. Getz hopes to establish a modern and high-class eating place at the club. Winter sports activity is also planned for future years.

Reconditioning of the entire layout is already underway and it is the hope of the new manager that the course can rapidly be put in the finest condition. Stonycroft is open to the public.

NOTES FROM

Nancy Warren

Dear Jan,

I'm so happy that you and John finally bought that little house. Do cheer up about its decorative possibilities. Even if the living room is cut-up with too many doors and the dining room overly blessed with oak woodwork, you can work positive magic with well-chosen wallpaper, and a little paint!

I remember your burgundy carpeting, and you say you plan new draperies and slip-covers, so let's work from there. For the living room, I'd suggest that soft grey-beige "Chamille" striped wallpaper, and paint the woodwork to match. The many doors and windows will seem less conspicuous. Choose the gayest floral you can find, in shades of soft rose and green for the draperies and slipcovers.

That dreary dining-room can be really stunning! Paint all the woodwork (including the "hideous" built-in china cabinet) the same soft grey as the living room. Then, throw caution to the winds and use that gorgeous wallpaper with the deep, slate-color ground and GREAT BIG dusty-pink roses and green leaves. Pick up plain, soft green for the draperies—and the old round table and not-to-elegant chairs will take on real dash with a coat of off-white paint and deep rose cotton chair backs and seat covers.

Jane, the papers I mention are No. 45A and No. 47B. You'll find many more interesting combinations completely worked out for you in the NANCY WARREN WALLPAPER BOOKS, which they'll be happy to have you look through, and plan with AUSTIN'S of Berkeley.

Love to you both
Nancy

Wanna Play Baseball With the Yankees? Be at June Tryouts

The New York Yankees will hold a tryout camp at Waver Stadium, Fontaine, on June 21, 27 and 28.

All boys 16-21 interested in a career in professional baseball are invited to attend. No applications or written invitations are necessary; just report to Waver Stadium at 10 a.m., the morning of June 20th. Bring your own glove and shoes, and uniform if you have one.

Boys attending will work out in infield workouts and under veteran Yankee baseball scouts, scouts who have discovered present day stars such as Phil Rizzuto, Vic Raschi, Bobby Brown, Tommy Henrich, Yogi Berra and others.

Located directly across the road from the clubhouse, it is 300 yards long and has 20 automatic tees and considerable grass area at the side for practicing of iron shots and chipping.
