Will-O-Way Opens Season on June 20 with Gay Comedy

Will-O-Way Playhouse will open its current season Tuesday evening, June 20, when the curtain rises on "Light Up the Sky", a Moss Hart comedy satire.

The Playhouse will celebrate its 10th anniversary this year with a longer season than it has had in the past. Six comedies, all hits in professional circles, have been selected for the summer theatre crowds of this area.

Director Bill Merrill is billing "Light Up the Sky" as a vehicle of several stars, rather than one. Among the local veterans who, through the years, have become favorites with the audience is Dean (Winnie) Coffin of Gordon Court. Her role will give her talents an excellent opportunity to show themselves through this rollicking comedy based on several famous theatre personalities.

"Light Up the Sky", selected as one of the 10 best plays of 1948 by Burns Mantle, will also feature such well known localities as Jerry Harrington, George Hunter, Celia Merrill Turner, Fred Taylor, Tom de Graffier and John Beeman.

These will be supported by other popular Will-O-Way players whose smooth performances have always added greatly to the success of all productions.

Reservations may be made by mail or phone through the Will-O-Way offices, Long Lake and Telegraph roads.

State CAR Board Met Here Saturday

The board of the junior state officers' club of the Michigan society of the Children of the American Revolution met at the Community House Saturday. Carolyn Luttrell, junior state president of Bloomfield Hills presided.

Mrs. J. Harvey Maxwell, of Grosse Pointe, senior state president, reported on the conference of the CAR national society held in Washington in April.

James Knapp and Margary Ann Malsiner of the Pere Marquette society, Marshall; Claudia Moore of the John Paul Jones society, Detroit; Lynn McCallum of the Col. Stephen Mack society, Pontiac and Tom Garrison of the Paul Revere society, Birmingham, also reported the activities of their groups.

Plans were made for the 1951

Pittsburgh Girl Becomes Bride of George J. Watt

Mount Lebanon Methodist church, Dormont, Pittsburgh, Pa., was the scene of the marriage of Miss Patricia West Kelly to George Jocelyn Watt Saturday.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul William Kelly of Dormont, while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Watt of Yorkshire road.

Miss Kelly wore a satin gown, made up a sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves with a fingertip veil and cathedral length train. She carried a bridal bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor and three bridesmaids wore identical blue gowns with matching bonnets and carried bouquets of coral shaded geraniums with variegated ivy.

The bride's mother wore a grey beaded dress with a lavender hat. Mrs. Watt wore a gown of French blue.

Among the attendants were Carol Traugott and her husband, Alan S. Traugott.

A reception was held at the New Century club in Dormont, after which Mr. and Mrs. Watt left for a wedding trip to Williamsburg, Va., and other points of interest. They will make their home in Oak Oak after June 15.

The state conference which will be held in Plymouth.

The group later visited Christ Church Cranbrook and the Cranbrook institute of science.
