

City Asked to Deny Rezoning of Lots on East Maple

Denial of a petition to rezone property on the north side of E. Maple, from Eton to Goodie, from single family and multiple dwelling to a business classification, has been recommended by the city plan commission.

Edward Blissett, chairman of the commission's zoning committee, stated at the regular plan commission meeting last Thursday, "Our committee feels that in that area there presently is considerable business property available for development. We do not feel there lots also should be zoned to business at this time."

9 More Streets Being Considered for Improvement

First Art Exhibit of Kingswood Alumnae Is Now Being Shown

The first alumnae art exhibition of Kingswood School Cranford will open on March 2. As many of Kingswood's graduates are serious amateurs or professionals, it was felt that an opportunity to exhibit their work at the school would enable present students and the public to see the work being done by Kingswood alumnae. The showing will include painting, sculpture, weaving and ceramics.

Extremely Hard

When you put all this together, judging the speed of three different vehicles simultaneously, one of them extremely hard to see, plus constant possibility of a hidden pedestrian or vehicle popping right in front of you, it is easy to see that any degree of simple errors will cause an accident.
