PTA Panorama at Adams on Monday

Monday, May 8, at 8:00 p.m. is the date of the annual Adams PTA meeting. At this time a representative group of children will demonstrate their skills in a panorama of the year's PTA sponsored activities.

"Our year at Adams has been one of growth for all of us—children, parents and teachers," says Mrs. Theodora Frieling, president of Adams PTA.

About 175 children have participated in PTA sponsored classes during the year and 15 mothers have contributed to the activities. Mrs. Robert F. Aldrich has taught groups in ballet, tap dancing and basket twirling.

Mrs. A. K. Toepfer has held classes in ceramics for the children. And Mrs. Nelson Altmeyer dinger gave lessons in weaving.

PTA sponsored classes are optional and have no relation to regular school activities.

There are four Brownie troops and two Girl Scout troops at Adams in which 133 girls participate. Forty mothers have worked together to make a varied program for the girls.

Robert Silbar and some 30 parents have contributed fun and learning experiences to 87 Cub Scouts.

The Saturday evening square dances held four times a year at the school have provided fun for several hundred people.

Newcomers Club Plans Tea, Showing of Antique Glass

Members of the Newcomers Club of Birmingham will be hostesses at a tea to be held in the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club on the afternoon of Wednesday, May 10. The affair is planned in connection with an informal showing of antique glass and china, the proceeds to be from the homes and collections of members and their guests.

While invitations have been sent to friends of members who have shown a special interest, anyone living in or near Birmingham who has a fondness for old china and glassware is welcome to attend.

This is the first time the Newcomers Club has participated with other newcomers in the Community who are not yet members of the organization. Those planning to attend are urged to bring their own antiques to the tea.

Off-Street Parking Topic of League at Unit Discussions

The Birmingham League of Women Voters will study and discuss the various problems of off-street parking at their unit discussion group meetings Monday, May 8.

Discussion groups will meet in the Baldwin Library conference room from 9:30 to 11:30 under the leadership of Mrs. Jack Beamer; at 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. with Mrs. Kenneth Battefild as discussion leader and the evening group will meet in the home of Mrs. Stanley Cain, 391 Fernside, from 8:00 to 10:00 p.m. Mrs. Hollister Mahley as leader. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Resource material has been placed on a special table in the lunary. Resource committee chairman, Mrs. Robert G. Silbar, has announced that her committee of Mrs. William Burlingame, Mrs. Harvey Greene, Mrs. Donald Howarth, Mrs. Peter Loomis, Mrs. Charles Kidd, Mrs. A. Leslie Schaefer, will attend all the meetings.
