News About GIRL SCOUTS

Girl Scout Troop 26 at Pierce school is making nature booklets. At the troop meeting on October 25, the girls learned how to press leaves and put them in their booklets. Scrie Mary Ellen Beakley reports that they are all going to work on their booklets during the week and bring them to the next meeting.

INTERMEDIATE Girl Scouts of Troop 54 at Pierce have elected Martha Melly as their president. At a recent meeting they decided to raise funds to buy a Ruth Allen dress for Christmas. Secretary Bordinat reported that games and refreshments completed and adults assisting this troop are Mrs. Eugene Bordinat, leader and Mrs. Donald Cummings, cotleader. Mrs. Arthur Hawkins, Mrs. David Beel and Mrs. D. J. Beakley, troop committee.

THE FIFTH GRADE Girl Scouts of Troop 35 at Pierce had an overnight stay at the cabin in Springdale Park. Judge Sturges, W. Devo, Arthur Caroline Seipp was their next stop for cookies and then on to Mrs. Clarence Dasey's home on Ridgedale road, where the two and a half mile hike was terminated in a peanut hunt in the backyard.

A SURPRISE hike was had by the Brownies of Troop 28 at Adams school during their last meeting. They stopped first at the home of Mrs. W. Devo, where they were served sandwiches and then continued their hike to the home of Linda Janke on Oakland avenue where they received a cool drink. The East Maple home of Caroline Seipp was their next stop for cookies and then on to Mrs. Clarence Dasey's home on Ridgedale road, where the two and a half mile hike was terminated in a peanut hunt in the backyard.

TROOP 16 of Adams school reports recent activities through its scrie, Darlene Johnson. Twenty members of this fifth grade intermediate troop observed World Friendshipday in Girl Scout week by folk holding an investiture ceremony for Carol Wallers, who formerly lived in England.

At this meeting, work was completed on 20 pairs of booties for the Needlework Guild of America, a service project of several Girl Scout troops. The girls of troop 16 are junior members of the troop and were guests at the November ingathering tea. A special outdoor affair was a treasure hunt at the first of the "treasures" (marshmallows) were tasted over an outdoor fire.

DONNA ORNAs leader of the Friendly Patrol and Sally Lewin leads the Helping Hand Patrol. Sally Satterthwaite is the troop's treasurer. Troop leader, Mrs. V. Crockett is assisted by Mrs. Howard W. Knight. Mrs. Knight is working with the girls in the construction of scrapbooks, in which they will keep their Girl Scout material for the year.
