Trip to Smoky Mountains Follows Candlelight Rites

Given in marriage by Robert R. Eldred of Pontiac, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Immel, became the bride of John Spencer Black, son of Mrs. John S. Black of Oak street and the late Mr. Black.

The Rev. Harold E. Towne read the eight o'clock candlelight ceremony last Saturday evening in St. James Episcopal church.

Miss Immel was gowned in white satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, cap sleeves and a peplum of lace on the full skirt which extended into a short train. Both her gown and fingertip satin gloves were embroidered in seed pearls and her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

HER SHORT ILLUSION veil fell from a pearl embroidered Juliet cap and she carried a white prayer book to which a bouquet of stephanotis and ivy was attached.

Miss Janet Smith of Pontiac assisted as maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Barwell S. Keyes of Glendale, Cal., and Mrs. Donald C. McCotter of Goff, Ill. All the attendants wore identical costumes of leaf green faille with forest green velvetene hats and carried bouquets of white flowers of Paradise and variegated ivy.

GEORGE P. HANEY of Grosse Pointe, a cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man and the ushers were Louis E. Randall, J. H. Herman E. Erke of Birmingham and Donald C. McCotter of Goff, Ill.

An aunt of the bride, Mrs. Don Hayden Rose of San Marino, Cal., was formed for the bride following reception held at the Pine Lake Country club. Mrs. Rose wore a more worldly lace dress over taffeta of the same shade with matching hat and accessories and a costume of brown cypripedium orchids.

MRS. BLACK, mother of the bridegroom, selected turquoise

Church Guilds Will Present Annual Tea At Baldwin Library

The Susan and Elizabeth Crosby bridge guilds of the First Presbyterian church will sponsor their annual musical tea at the Baldwin Public Library Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 17. The program will be heard at 2 o'clock.

The group will present Mrs. Alan Loubfrower, pianist and Mrs. J. S. Moon, vocalist, the latter accompanied by Mrs. James Gillon. Mrs. Loubfrower, a graduate of Ohio State university, studied piano under private teachers for 12 years in Columbus, Ohio. She has also attended the Cincinnati conservatory of music and for the past several years has been coaching with Mischa Kottler. She is an active member in the Birmingham Musical club.

MRS. MOON, another Musical club member, studied voice in New York and with Prof. Froehner of Birmingham. She is a member of the choir of St. James Episcopal church.

GIRL SCOUTS

Teen-age Intermediate Girl Scouts at Barnum school have recently learned of the uniform form which is now official, in addition to the regular green dress uniform. It combines a white broadcloth blouse and a green gabardine skirt. All insignia are worn on and above the pocket of the blouse in the same position as on the dress. Troops should change creasers and a costume so that all girls will be dressed alike for troop activities and public appearances.

AT THE BIRMINGHAM Girl Scout Council meeting, held Friday, September 29, at the Community House, Mrs. Fred Keyes, organization chairman, introduced the following co-ordinators for each school: Mrs. Edson Stevens, Walnut Lake; Mrs. J. M. Ross and Mrs. James Keene, Pierce school; Mrs. Stuart Cobb, Barnum school; Mrs. Robert Yingling, Adams and Torrey schools; Mrs. J. H. Savage, Jr., and Mrs. Frank Lynch, Holt Name school; Mrs. Dudley Campbell, Franklin; and Mrs. Lawrence Falvey, Quanton school.

MRS. WILLIAM H. JACKSON announces that the Girl Scout office in Baldwin library will be open for assistance to troop leaders each Monday afternoon and Thursday morning. Mrs. Andrew Watson, consultant on all Brownie matters, is on duty in the office Monday afternoons.

Mrs. L. D. Gilliam, chairman of camping, gave a detailed report on the week's camp program of last July to the Girl Scout council at its first meeting last Friday, September 29.
