Pam Scolaro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ray Scolaro of Walled Lake and formerly of Franklin, was crowned "B" Queen by Pontiac Mayor John Ridgeway Saturday evening. The crowning was the highlight of a two-day festival sponsored by I. A. Simms Post 3952 of the VFW to raise money to purchase 75 band uniforms in Walled Lake. The queen is a ninth grade student at Walled Lake high school.

Mrs. J. F. Hunt, 215 Pierce and Mrs. A. Leitch Schaefer, 251 E. Brown, have been commended by retiring City Commissioner Garland D. Tark for their voluntary service to voters on election day. The ladies offered free transportation to the polls to any residents who desired it. Mrs. Hunt said Friday that about 12 persons availed themselves of the service.

Mayor Chad Ritchie remarked at Monday's city commission meeting that he had noticed a very unsightly situation at the Grand Trunk Railroad station where papers are left for newsmen. He asked if the commission could provide a container at that point. New Commissioner Frank Rising suggested that when the commission has time in the near future, it should discuss "How to Keep Our City Clean." He pointed out that vacant lots especially should be considered.

South Oakland Hospital Authority's (SOHA) second official offer of its $700,000 in cash and pledges and its 13 Mile-Woodward site for use of the proposed Greater Detroit Hospital Fund's Oakland Hospital will not be made until the state house of representatives approves an amendment to the Hospital Authority Act, SOHA chairman Lloyd Clawson said this week. The measure, which would permit SOHA to give its assets to Oakland Hospital providing the latter used the 13 Mile site, has passed the state senate.

OLD AND NEW are united. Luther Heacock, Amos Gregory, the Rev. Dr. Arnold Runkel, Mary Young Binkle, Everett Allen and Wylie Groves collect items from the cornerstone box of 1871 which are to be replaced in the new cornerstone box. These will join items of interest of the past 80 years and be sealed into the cornerstone at a ceremony Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Bishop Marshall Reed of the Detroit area and the Rev. Dr. William Harston, Detroit district superintendent, will be among distinguished guests at the ceremony. (Joe Wheeler Photo)
