Fire Damages Home Of Largest Donor

WALNUT LAKE—The local volunteer fire department made its second run about 5 p.m. Tuesday during time to the home of its largest donor.
 An oil burner explosion at the Paloma Farms home of Roy Fruehau resulted in considerable smoke damage to the house, with actual fire damage kept at a minimum according to Don Benway, fire commission head.
 Benway said trucks from West Bloomfield township also responded to the alarm.

Commission Okays Business B Zoning

Because he eliminated certain objectionable property uses, the property owned by W. S. McAlpine and bounded by Haynes, Worth, Webster and Hunter, has been rezoned from business A to business B by the city commissioners. McAlpine will not permit the area to be used for bot-ting works, creameries, roller skating rinks and other enterprises objected to by neighbors in the block to the east.

Man Arrested for Indecent Exposure

Complaints dating back to the summer of 1949 may be cleared up this week with the arrest of a man on the grounds of Kingswood school (Cranbrook, charged with indecent exposure.
 Bloomfield Hills Police Chief I. C. Banks stated that at least 10 complaints have been received during the past two years of similar incidents in the vicinity of the school. There had been four complaints this year and many parents and residents of that area were becoming alarmed.
 Wilford D. Smith, 25, of Bloomfield Highlands, Pontiac, was arrested by Bloomfield Hills and Cranbrook police Monday and arraigned Tuesday before Justice Alva Richardson. Smith was bound over to Circuit Court and admitted on $500 cash bond.
 The chief said that Smith has admitted being connected with the previous offenses.
