W. H. Manning GM Executive Dies Suddenly

William H. Manning, 50, prominent automotive engineer, died Aug. 24 in St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Pontiac, after a brief illness. He lived at 843 Puritan.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 13, 1901, Mr. Manning attended school there, the Toms school for boys at Fort Deposit, Md., and the University of Virginia. He received his engineering degree from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1924.

He married Margaret Waddell of Charlottesville, Va., on Aug. 5, 1924.

Mr. Manning came to Detroit in 1926 when he was associated with the General Motors research laboratories. He later joined the Pontiac division and became assistant to the chief engineer.

HIS WORK on the redesigning of the Osirion gun at Pontiac Motors, during World War II, earned him the Naval Ordnance development award.

In 1945 he returned to the GM central office in Detroit, connected with the general engineering group.

He was a member of the Orchard Lake country club, Theta Delta Chi and the Osiris club of MIT.

Besides his widow he is survived by two sons, William W. and James W., and a daughter, Margaret W., all of Birmingham. A sister, Mrs. Isabelle Howson of New York also survives.

Services, in charge of the Bell chapel, William R. Hamilton funeral home, were from Christ Church Cranbrook Saturday afternoon. Burial was in White Chapel cemetery.

Born in Detroit Aug. 1, 1902, she attended Liggett school for girls and the University of Michigan. She was married May 15, 1928, to Dr. Raymond W. Walmoth in Detroit.

Surviving with her husband is one son, Raymond K.

Services were held Tuesday afternoon from the Bell chapel of the William R. Hamilton company with burial in Roseland Park cemetery.

JOHN A. SAMPSON, 65, died at his residence, 5673 Putnam drive, Walnut Lake, after several months' illness.

Born in Stockdale, Ohio, April 21, 1886, he had been a resident of this area for 28 years. He was an inspector for the Fisher Body corporation.

Survivors include his widow, May; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Severance and one grandchild of Detroit; and three brothers and sisters, Mrs. Belle Hoffman of Columbus, Ohio, Harry M. and Mrs. Flo Davey of Detroit.

Services were Tuesday afternoon from the Bell chapel of the William R. Hamilton company with burial in Pine Lake cemetery.

LEROY HUGH HICKS, 60, of 763 Ann, died suddenly at his home Sunday. He had been in ill health about six months.

Born in Inlay City Oct. 1, 1890, he married Grace Proctor in Detroit Sept. 20, 1919 and came to Birmingham about nine years ago. He was a former attendant at the Oakland county gas and oil station on South Woodward.

He was a member of the Birmingham VFW Post 8645, having served with the Fifth Marine Corps during World War I.

Besides his widow he is survived by a daughter, Nancy Jane at home and a sister, Mrs. Fred Seaman of San Diego, Calif.

Services were from the Manley Bailey funeral home Tuesday afternoon with burial in Greenwood cemetery. The Rev. W. Glen Harris of the First Presbyterian church officiated.

MRS. MARGARET L. STEWART, 85, of 419 Pilgrim road, died Aug. 21.

She was born at Kindardine, Ont., May 13, 1866 and in 1901 was married to William J. Stewart who died in 1910.

Mrs. Stewart is survived by a daughter, Mrs. A. Stuart Adams, with whom she has lived since 1948; a son, James W. Stewart of Detroit; and three grandchildren.

Services were held Friday from the Linklater funeral home in Kindardine cemetery.

MISS MARGARET C. HOLLAND, 84, of 637 North Woodward, died Aug. 24 at Hilltop Manor in Romeo. She had been a resident of Birmingham since February, coming here from Huntington Woods.

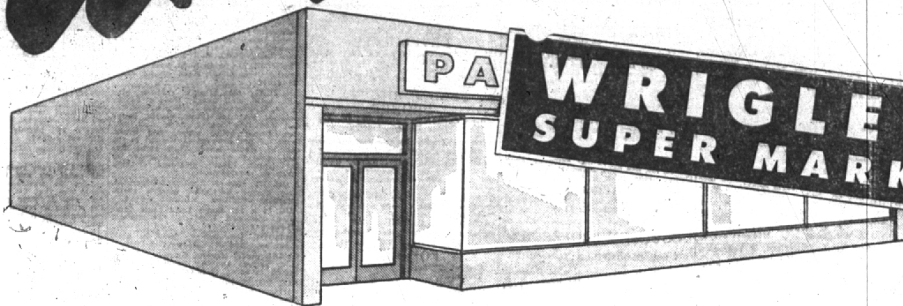

Miss Holland was born in Meadowville, Ont., Feb. 22, 1867. For a number of years she taught in the high schools of Vincennes, Ind., and helped found two of that city's hospitals.

She was a member of the Columbian Reading circle and Fortnightly club there. During World War I she served as secretary of National Defense for Indiana.

Her only survivors, four nieces, include Miss Helen Bravogel with whom she lived.

A requiem mass was chanted Saturday morning at the Shrine of the Little Flower, Royal Oak. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre cemetery, with arrangements in charge of Sullivan and Son funeral home.
