Radio Summer Theater Presents Another Play

Last Thursday the Summer Radio Theater presented Pygmalion as Pygmalion by Mabel Long. Ward Herdick played the small town philosopher, and Dave Gibbons played the tragic role of Mr. Edwards, the disillusioned theatrical producer. He was ably supported by Jim Kaup, Gail Smith, Roger Miller, Gwen Smith, and Roger Miller. The student director, and sound effects and music were handled by Dick Wilson, Linda Marcan, and Dave Murphy.

Today this enterprising group of youngsters will present another episode from Alice in Wonderland, "Who Stole the Tarts?" Katie Biggs plays Alice and is supported by Jack Garvy, Felix Charlier, Dave Murphy, Roger Miller, Pat Kannell, Nancy Wind, Linda Marcan, Susan McDonnell, Margaret Seyforth and Jim Kaup.

Mary Jane Clark is the student director and Bob Ketchum, Dick Wilson, and Barbara Gowans are responsible for the sound effects.

The final performance of the season will be on August 16 when the Radio Players will present the breezy comedy, "Zelda." Casting is not yet completed for this show.

A trip to WWJ-TV and the News Building will wind up the season for the group. This activity has been a part of the Birmingham Recreation Program and has been under the supervision of Monelle Clark. It is presented in the Barnum Radio Workshop on Thursdays at 10:45 a. m. and is broadcast over station WCAR Pontiac.
