A total of 6,500 persons have been blood typed in Southfield township, according to Fordon A. Niles, 2100 Telegraph, township civil defense director.

Niles stated, "About 4,000 of this number were school children. We had bloodtyping set two different weeks during October and hope to get the teams out here once more. However, this will be when the weather gets better, so more people can turn out."

The director said he has no idea when the bloodtype tags will be mailed out from Lansing to persons who were typed in October. He emphasized that it usually takes quite some time for the tags to be sent.
