A LESSON EVERY CHILD SHOULD LEARN

Two of the most important things you can teach your child are the value of money—and the habit of saving it systemstically. A saving pass book in your child's name provides a worthy outlet for the collecting "instinct" most children have, gives him an incentive to see his balance grow. And the story of interest earned by his money is a valuable business leavan to

To the Man Who Was a Boy -in 1920!

Let's say it was thirty-one years ago, on a beautiful morning in June, when a farmer's boy sat down on the grass beside his father's mailbox.

He was waiting for the cloud of dust that would signal the approach of the mailman's car.

But the first cloud of dust that showed in the distance was not of the mailman's making. It came from the wheels of a Cadillac—filled with happy, friendly people—who waved and smiled and rolled

"There," thought the youngster, "is the

And while the dust was settling on the grass and trees about the farmer's lad, another boy stood by a rack of papers on a busy street in a distant city—and heard the friendly horn of another Cadillac.

"Keep the change," the driver smiled, as he took his paper and rolled out into the traffic.

"There," thought the boy, as he clutched his coin," is the car for me!"

And other boys, at work and play, watched friendly Cadillaes that day—and the dreams grew in their hearts.

There was the boy mowing lawns . . . and the boy pitching hay . . . and the grocery boy . . . and the icenian's helper. And there was the lad gone out to fetch his mother's laundry—and the one on his way to a music lesson, his volint tucked carelessly under his arm.

"There," they thought, "is the car for

And, since this is America, where dreams make sense in the heart of a boy, the farmer's lad is now a surgeon ... and the boy with the papers is an editor ... and the grocery boy's an industrialist. And so on and on they go, through all the professions, and all the various phases of business and finance.

"Boys who make good," we call them.

And what about those youthful dreams of owning a Cadillac?

Pushed into the background, perhaps. For there are many things a man must do before he thinks of his own gratification. There's a home to make-and a family to support—and a "nest-egg" to fashion

But no boy's dream of a Cadillac ever-dies! Postponed and over-shadowed, of course—but never forgotten!

And that's why we're writing you this—you youthful dreamers of thirty-some years ago.

Maybe the time has come!

And what a Christmas it would be if you could tell yourself and your family and friends—"I've ordered the Cadillae!"

If you think the time has come for you, we'd love to see you. It's a grand and glorious feeling to help such a dream come true!
