Christmas Play Planned by Local Students

By NANCY JOHNSON
The traditional Christmas assembly which is one of the two religious programs put on by Birmingham students, is slated Dec. 21 at the high school.
A two-act play "Christmas in the Catskills" written and directed by William Kegel, will be presented as part of the assembly.
THIS PLAY MAY also be the start of a dramatics club to meet the interests of the large number of students who tried out.
It is traditional for many alumni to attend the assembly and former members of the choir are invited to join in singing Fred Waring's arrangement of "The Night Before Christmas." The choir will also sing other selections.
Many traditions of the Christmas season are observed by students. The Spanish classes sing carols in the halls; home-rooms prepare baskets for needy families, and trees grace the stage.

BLOOMFIELD VILLAGE SCHOOL NEWS

First and Second Grades—The children are excited with the visits to Santa Claus and are busy getting ready for our Christmas program. Mrs. Jackson visited Sharon's reading class one day this week.
Second and Third Grade News—Sally Cunningham had a birthday this week. We chose our Christmas play and are now beginning to plan the Christmas program. We have made memo pads for our mothers to use in their kitchens. Kathie Eynes had a party Saturday afternoon to celebrate her birthday.

FOURTH AND FIFTH GRADE—Fritzi Harris is reporter. Officers in the fourth and fifth grades this week were Mary Seyforth, president, Marilyn Michaels, vice-president and Ann Bauer, secretary. Students getting in the Christmas spirit by working on a Christmas reading unit and painting pictures of Christmas. They are also working on our Christmas play. In Gray-Y, some of the children painted statues.
Fifth and Sixth Grade—Mary Gibbs Slater and Edward Broadwell were chosen to be this week's reporters. Sheriffs for the week are Howie Davis and Bonnie Braund. Nancy McCortney attended the Birmingham schools health conference at Birmingham high school as school representative.
The children in this room are bringing in different plant seed pods which we plan to decorate for Christmas. Terry Mahaffey, Helen Ross, Dick Taylor, Preston Smith, Bill Cartwright, Peter Palmer, Linda Stevenson and Susie Sawyer have all been on the sick list. In Gray-Y, we had our second football game with Adams school and were defeated 20 to 7.
Boys in Boy Scout Troop 15 have been busy learning to tie knots. They are making plans for a camp out in the spring. The girls in Girl Scout Troop 21 are starting work on their "Junior Citizen" and "My Country" badges. They are also making Christmas gifts for their mothers and fathers and children in the Elizabeth Kenny polio clinic near Pontiac.

Await Radio Delivery
Fire Chief V. W. Griffith, said this week that he had had no information as to delivery date of the department's second two-way radio which is to be installed in a department vehicle. The unit, he said, was ordered Nov. 7.

Choir Schedules Programs for Yule Season
By SIDNEY McNARY
A gay holiday season is in store for many Birmingham people who will be entertained by the Birmingham high school choir. Under the direction of Victor Ulrich, the choir will sing for various clubs throughout December.
The Woman's club heard the choir, as well as various other acts by high school students, this week. Members of the Woman's society of Christian service will be entertained Dec. 12 at the Methodist church. Both the Rotary and H. I. 12 clubs will enjoy Christmas music by the choir Dec. 17.
A broadcast Dec. 20 over WCAR at 1:45 will enable the group to bring both religious and gay Christmas songs into homes.
