THE EAST SIDE group will meet with Mrs. Kenneth Swartwood at 597 Linden road for Mrs. Ray Palmer's review of "Abby Aldrich Rockefeller", by Mary Elsie Chase. Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. E. W. Miller, Mrs. R. S. Sackett and Mrs. F. J. Finckelauer.
Mrs. A. D. Parnie will be hostess to the Book Study group in her home at 285 Winton drive, where Mrs. William Milligan will read some selections of American poetry written between 1750 and 1850.

News About GIRL SCOUTS

Scribe Susan Brundage of Girl Scout troop 26 of Pierce school reports that the group had a Christmas party at the home of Calla Reasoner on Mayfair lane. They sang songs, played games and exchanged gifts before supper was served.
Their favors were marshmallow and life saver candle holders. The troop number and troop crest—the Star of Bethlehem—were given out.
The first meeting of the new year was held Wednesday, January 10, when the Scouts talked about health and safety, read in their Scout handbooks and discussed how to earn badges.

March Bride-Elect

Miss Richards.
Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Richards of Walnut Lake and Detroit announce the engagement of their daughter, Charlotte Bernice, to Jackson Bunker Hallett, son of Mrs. Ellen Hallett of Glen Burnie, Maryland.
Both are recent graduates of the University of Michigan, where Miss Richards was affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta sorority and her fiancé was a member of Theta Chi fraternity.
A March seventeenth wedding at Walnut Lake is being planned by the couple.

Peggy deSalle Announces Current Gallery Showing

Peggy deSalle is now showing at her Little Gallery, the works of Francis deSalle, now professor of painting at the University of Southern California at Los Angeles, formerly of Birmingham.
The Birmingham Women Painters association received instruction from him for many years. deSalle is included in a book that has just come off the press, "Twenty Painters and How They Work". One of his drawings was also used for the cover of the September issue of American Artists magazine.

HIS WORKS NOW BEING SHOWN AT THE LITTLE GALLERY

include recent drawings and water colors; among them a study for oil painting which recently won the artist an award in the West Coast exhibitions.
Thirty women from the Pontiac and Bloomfield area AAUW groups met in the Gallery on Monday night for Mrs. deSalle's gallery talk. She will continue such informal and open, evening gallery talks from time to time for groups that are unable to attend during the day.
MISS SALLY SELOVER, daughter of Mrs. Robert Hadd of Bloomfield Hills, and a Birmingham college student is now assisting at the Gallery and will remain there until March when she returns to school.
Up until this time, Alice Cook Abernethy, known for her artistic work in jewelry, weaving and painting, was associated with the Little Gallery. Now she is leaving for Ann Arbor where her husband, J. T. Abernethy, potter and ceramicist, will be teaching at the University of Michigan staff.
At the time of the Gallery's opening, Mrs. deSalle was assisted by Miss Joy Lind a weaver from Cranbrook, who later returned to school.

AYH Representative To Speak Tuesday On Hosting Trip

Miss Catherine Becker, membership chairman of the American Youth Hostel of Metropolitan Detroit area, will address the Y-Teens group and all those interested in attending, at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday, January 23 at the Community House.
Miss Becker will give a talk illustrated with slides, of her hostel trip—bicycling most of the way—through Italy, Switzerland, Southern France and along the English border.
The Y-teens group of Baldwin High school is sponsoring this meeting which is open to the public.
