

Many young (and older) people today openly admit they "are after the easy dollar", and don't care how they make it. They forget, so easily, that "an easy dollar" slips away as easily as it is made, and it takes with it some of one's moral values, too.

Ivory Silk Organdy Gown Worn By Joan Sappington

Pale ivory silk organdy over tulle, designed with a mermaid effect of point de Lyons lace and a sheer illusion yoke fashioned the bridal gown of Miss Joan Sappington for her Saturday afternoon marriage to William Miles Goodrich in Christ Church Cathedral. Matching lace gauntlets fastened over her wrists and her laced veil of illusion fell from a tiara.

MRS. WILLIAM MILES GOODRICH

an of lace embroidered with tiny coral pearls. Phalarope's orchids, leopards and dolphins stream into her small satin bouquet.

Miss Sappington is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Byron Sappington of 422 Arlington road and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Edgar Goodrich of East Orange, N. J.

Rev. Ansel R. Marshall of East Aurora, N. Y. performed the ceremony.

imely, assisted by Rev. Robert L. DeWitt of First Church.

ICE BLUE NET shodded with shantung lace fashioned the President's daughter's gown of Judith Sappington, her twin sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids, Mrs. John S. Houghton of Birmingham, sister of the groom, Virginia Wilks of New York City, Mrs. William C. Houghton of Hartsford, Conn., and Miss Esther J. Robertson, Jr. of Pellham Manor, N. Y.

The attendant's gowns were styled in the same silhouette as the brides and were shown. They were lace drop-fronts and lace gauntlets. Miss Sappington's flowers were American beauty roses and hybrid delphinium, the bridesmaids carried arrangements of hybrid delphinium, shades of blue and mauve.

John A. Sheehan of Shanklin, Pa. acted as best man and witness were Douglas McWilliams also of Shanklin, Lewis J. Sappington and Donald Burgess of Detroit, Selmer Sand of Pontiac and Dr. Robert Gaskler of Ann Arbor.

THE BRIDE'S mother was provided an afternoon reception with a short white lace jacket and matching lace hat. A spray of sparkling orchids, was pinned to her corsage.

Mrs. Goodrich chose a coral of shell for her hair, and each of the brides wore a hair spray hat in a deep shade of corals. Her corsage was of white orchids.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Bloomfield Hills country club, after which the young couple departed for a Northern Michigan honeymoon.

For executive time, young Mr. Goodrich wore a suit of beige silk and small transparent tie. He and his bride were seen and the crowd here to see the couple.

The bridegroom will make their home in Waterman, N. J.

MRS. JACK DILLON

Marjorie Pullar Becomes Bride Saturday Noon

White roses, orchids, and ivy were carried by Marjorie Elaine Pullar at her marriage Saturday noon to Jack Dillon in St. Scholastica church.

Mrs. Pullar is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Faring of Ohio avenue, Detroit and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Dillon of Brookfield, Conn. Pointe.

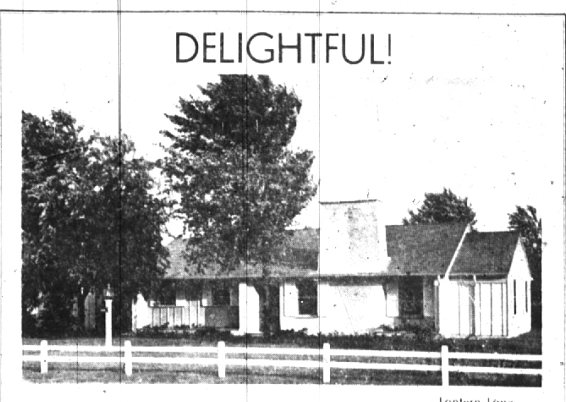

For the double ring rite, the bride wore a gown of imported shantung lace and tulle, intricately fashioned with blue and pink, and a tulle hat. Her finger tip veil of silk illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of lace and tulle with coral and pearls.

Mr. Robert L. Callahan of River Oak was master of honor, Mrs. Mary Saylor of Detroit and Nancy Macomber of Wyandotte were bridesmaids. They were provided doddle in a gown of white dotted Swiss over pale yellow tulle. Shades of yellow tulle tied at their waists and they carried cascade arrangements of yellow roses and blue delphinium.

Frank A. Dillon, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Guests were seated by Robert A. Pullar of Pontiac, brother of the bride, Edward Cook of Wyandotte, matching hat and a corsage of pink, the bride when they left for a two week's trip through Northern Michigan. Frank Eason of Detroit.

They first were seen by Mrs. Dillon. She chose to go with a small bouquet of white roses, a blue and pink corsage, and a white and blue veil. The bride, a teacher at Barnum school for two years, has lived on Washington boulevard during the wedding. She is now a member of the church. When they return home, they will make their home in Birmingham.

THE CALM DIGNITY OF A FINE COLONIAL

On Brady Lane

On a hilltop - a joy to everyone who beholds it. The architecture is timeless. The setting is perfect.

This fine home claims the distinction of having been designed and built with spaciousness and higher ceilings, were a part of a less hurried way of life. Alpheus Chittenden, we are told, drew the plans and supervised the construction.

Solid masonry walls and roof of Johns Manville shingles denote sound construction. A splendid colonial living Room 17 x 28 and a wonderful center hall with beautiful stairway are features of the first floor.

On the second floor are 4 charming family bedrooms and 2 baths, plus maid's quarters with service rear stairway.

The house, on its 8 acres, enjoys a splendid view of the Chest Church district.

This is a real opportunity for the family that wants the best in country living without giving up any of the conveniences of the city.
