

Two New Teachers Engaged by Troy Twp. School Board

At the Troy township school board meeting June 14, two new teachers were engaged for the coming school year.

Rhéal Aughey will teach chemistry and social science in the new high school and Fredia Kyoil will instruct elementary grades. Gordon Mathis, music instructor for township schools, was engaged to instruct band and instrumental music during the summer six week program.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the board approved the paying off of $2,000 in bonds for the Troy Union school. This action will clear all indebtedness of the school.

Superintendent Stuart Baker and school board officers probably will be moved to the new Troy high school building on Livermore near Big Beaver road, by the first of next week. Offices have been located in the township hall.

Dogs, Beware! New Warden Due In City July 1

After July 1 Birmingham's dogs had better toe the line pretty carefully—a new dog warden is taking over on that date.

During the past several years a lot of the city's pouches have come to know Ralph Riley pretty well. In fact, a number of them have been his guest and passenger on several occasions (too many, according to their owners who have repeatedly dug down into the sack to haul the pets out of disgraceville.)

Rip their pal, is leaving. He has designed his position as dog warden, and supervisor of street signs and markings to move his family to California.

HIS PLACE will be taken by Alfred Sundell, 28, of 1847 Donah, Royal Oak. To him will fall

Got A Good Book For Me, Pardner?

It's round-up time at the Baldwin public library. That is, it will be as soon as school closes.

All of Birmingham's junior cowboys and cowgirls are eligible to join the round-up program which is the theme of the regular summer reading and story schedule.

Miss Joanne Loyd, librarian, said each member would be represented by a cowboy or cowgirl picture displayed on the library walls. As the youngsters report on books they read at home, equipment will be added to their pictures until, by the end of the season, the most avid reader will be the best dressed puncher on the range.

THE REGULAR story hour will be held each Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, varying from the winter schedule of Saturday.

"The whole area is rich in history and we at the library feel the program based on it will be interesting and certainly beneficial to the children. Of course, the cowboy theme needs no further explanation—every parent is thoroughly familiar with that."
