St. Dunstan's Selects Cast For "Skin Of Our Teeth"

Biblical events, geological phenomena, and the parade of history all dexterly combined in the theatrical filippic which marks the plot of Thornton Wilder's comedy, "The Skin of Our Teeth," which is currently being produced by St. Dunstan's Guild of Cranbrook.

The play will be presented in the outdoor Greek Theater at Cranbrook for four performances, Thursday through Sunday, June 14, 15, 16 and 17.

A cast of thirty-five, directed by James B. Meehan, is rehearsing this comedy which recounts the trials and tribulations of the Antrobus family, who might represent the average man fat grips with a destiny sometimes sour, sometimes sweet.

The lunatic plot skips lightly to and fro through the adventures of this everyman's family during some five thousand odd years.
