

Most men who long occupy high public office have lost genuine conscience. It is utterly impossible for them to remain honest and sincere—they must be ALL things to get votes. So why envy them their empty honors? Your own sleep is more restful than theirs.

Results of Jaycees Freedom Forum Termed Successful

Because the Freedom Forum sponsored by the Birmingham Junior Chamber of Commerce last year served its purpose, it is no longer in force, according to James Cole, president of the Jaycees.

The purpose of this Americanism crusade was to bring communism to the fore and let the public know its evils. Cole said that the local chapter felt that after the outbreak of the Korean war, further efforts would not be necessary.

He said the program proved very successful, and many presentations were made by local members to various groups. The presentation was also demonstrated before the state Jaycee convention by the Birmingham chapter.

Bits of Birmingham

This Wanderer would like to get a look at that tentative report on this area's health, recreation and welfare services which was prepared for the United Foundation by Charles X. Sampson of White Plains, N. Y. We understand it has been sent back to him for a re-write, with emphasis on deleting certain portions which have met violent objections. Meanwhile, what few tentative reports are still in town are believed to be under lock and key.

To give moral encouragement to Troy Township Supervisor Charles R. Ryan and discouragement to surrounding municipalities, Troy residents in the Maple-Crooks-Big Beaver-Adams area are circulating petitions asserting they wish to keep their township status, it is reported in this Wanderer. Ryan recently said his township would resist any attempts on the part of neighboring municipalities to annex township areas, particularly the fast-growing industrial section along Maple just east of the Birmingham city limits.

Replying to Mrs. Christine Borgman's letter on closing school for Washington's birthday, one reader said that she felt the children were as well off in school learning about these great men as they would be at playing Hop-along Cassidy. "In fact, better," she told this wanderer. "Apparently a lot of them learn very little about historical people at home. A friend of mine, who is a teacher, began telling her class about George Washington and was quite amazed to find that some of them thought she was talking about Gorgous George, the wrestler. It seems a number of the youngsters had seen George on television."

Oh happy day! 'Know, this Wanderer has been going about with a very dejected mien the past few weeks, but life is looking up again—we're right in step with the times. Peering at the lovely sunshine Friday morning, we spotted our first robin of the year at about 8:15 a.m. Now we can go once more and hold our head up.

Three local children had a happy surprise last week. Mrs. James M. Scriber, 896 Hazel, said that the family dog, "Soxy" had been missing for about a year. But one day last week, she saw it wandering around in the back yard. She said that her three youngsters were overcome with joy at finding the pet again. Mrs. Scriber has no idea where the dog has been.

Cranbrook Cagers End Season With 59-51 Victory

Cranbrook's varsity basketball team gained the top spot in the Interstate league Saturday afternoon by overcoming Western Reserve Academy of Hudson, Ohio, 59-51. The win gave the squad a .667 percentage in league play this season, while showing poorly against non-League competition.

The Blue and Gray were sparked by center Ed Godfrey, playing his final game for Cranbrook, who poured 30 points into the basket. John Bostwick, an outstanding back on Reserve's championship football team, made 16 points for the losers.

The game left Cranbrook with a record of five wins and ten losses for the completed winter season.

Local Photographers Receive Honors at State Convention

Two local residents received ribbons at the annual convention of the Photographers Association of Michigan, held at Lansing, Feb. 25-27.

Mrs. Gertrude J. Arnold won first places for group photography and wedding class; and second in child photography.

Her husband, A. E. Arnold received third place for portraits of women. More than 500 entries were submitted from the best professionals in the state, according to Charles M. Baldwin, secretary of the association.

Included on municipalities cooperating in this project is Southfield township. Township Clerk Mrs. Fannie Adams was appointed to the committee by the township board last week.

Tentative plans are to provide a breakfast for those departing for military service. The various municipalities in the draft board's districts will be asked to contribute one cent per capita for the budget of the committee.
