

No real mother ever did loving things for her children with the expectation only of being rewarded; she loves them for the sake of love itself... and no higher motive ever gratified a human act. Mother-love is I think, God's right arm on earth.

Double Ring Rites Unite Couple At Holy Name Church

Holy Name Church was the scene Saturday of the double ring rites that united Lorraine Ann Santoske of Detroit to David Walter Hasse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Hasse of Devonshire road, Beverly Hills.

White Gladioli and other white flowers decorated the altar for the 11 o'clock service read by Rev. Joseph Kress.

The bride selected a gown of chantilly lace over satin. The bodice was fitted and had a neckline of illusion. Her long train of satin had insets of lace. The scalloped edges of her lace headress were embroidered with drop pearls. She carried a fan shaped bouquet of anemone with white orchids and satin streamers.

MRS. KENNETH EVANS, the bride's sister, from Berkley, wore a gown of Nile green with full flowing skirt of nylon marquisette over taffeta. Chantilly lace trimmed the bodice and the collar. Her matching picture hat was trimmed with drop pearls. She carried a fan shaped bouquet of white carnations with green streamers.

Jean Hoffee, as bridesmaid wore a gown styled identically to the honor matron's in pink chantilly lace. Her flowers were the same with pink satin streamers.

Daniel Kalkter and Robert Durocher, classmates of the bridegroom at U of D, were best man and usher.

For the reception at the home of the groom's parents, the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Theresa Drain of Detroit was dressed in navy crepe with white accessories and a white orchid.

Mrs. Hasse wore an aqua silk suit with detail stitching on the collar and pockets. Her accessories were white as was her orchid corsage.

For a honeymoon trip to the Smoky Mountains the bride wore a beige suit and hat with white gloves and brown accessories and the white orchids from her bouquet.

When they return, the young couple will reside in Saginaw.

Deadline for society club news is noon each Monday.
