

Couple Celebrate 50th Anniversary At Sunday Party

The life of a young married couple with the husband still in school was the topic of conversation at the open house given last Sunday afternoon, November 25, by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Webster.

But the couple around whom the conversation centered were not one of the families who thronged college campuses after the last war, but Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Webster of Detroit, who were married on Hampton avenue, 1901, while Mr. Webster was attending Purdue University.

The couple celebrated their Golden Anniversary at an open house and reception held from two until five Sunday afternoon, at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Webster of Hampstead avenue.

Gathered around the tea table and partaking of the "Golden Wedding Cake" were 125 guests, including the guests of honors' three grandchildren, sixteen year-old twins Judith and Joan Webster, and Robert H. Webster.

Arriving by plane for the celebration was Mrs. Webster's sister, Mrs. Della Painter of Englewood, California.

Holiday Entertainment Theme of Nov. Meeting

Members of the Birmingham alumnae of Alpha Xi Delta alumnae and their guests met for the November 19th meeting at the Fenwick branch of the Detroit Edison Company, for a Christmas food demonstration.

Belle Hannigan, assisted by Lucille Ingram and Louise Bingham, demonstrated the preparation of holiday foods, including various ways of stuffing and roasting the turkey.

Miss Ingram arranged a festive Christmas table, and explained a few simple and effective party decorations.

Mrs. Alec Clark and Mrs. Gordon Reynolds were co-hostesses. Mrs. Robert Chase handled the ticket sale, and distributed the food among the guests.

Refreshments were served after the demonstration.
