

BLOOMFIELD VILLAGE SCHOOL NEWS

First and second grade news—Barbara Maxson from James Vernon School in Detroit is a new member of the class. Stanley Cutter invited all first grade boys to his home Saturday, to celebrate his sixth birthday which was Oct. 22. Sharon has a new collie puppy named Sandy.

Second and third grades—James Scott is this week's reporter. The Gray boys went on an overnight camping trip Friday. The Brownies went to the Franklin cider mill at their meeting last week. During art class, children made witches for Halloween.

FOURTH AND FIFTH GRADE—Reporter, Peter Beardley. Class officers for this week in Mrs. Weinstein's room are president, Bonnie Cartwright, vice-president, Billy Witherridge, and secretary, Jane Slater.

The Brownies were invited to the home of Jackie Paulus for a "cookout" celebrating her 10th birthday. They wrapped hamburgers and vegetables in aluminum foil and cooked them in the hotcoak. Gray members went on a camping trip overnight to Camp Ohlyesa.

A safety play was presented by class members Bonnie Cartwright, Jackie Paulus, Sharon Kelly, Danny Higgins, Dixie Humphrey, Anne Bauer, Suzanne Wallace and Jane Slater. Helen Cudini, Mary Seyferth, Sara Bartholomew and Fritz Harris put on a tumbling act. In a skit, Claire Miller and Michael Greer showed the puppets which they made.

FIFTH AND SIXTH GRADE—Carol Walkstein is this week's reporter. Pat Henry brought an aquarium and five goldfish to school, but on the way, one fish fell out and died. Nancy McCortney and Bonnie Braund went walking in the woods near Northville, Sunday afternoon.

Many girls in the class took advantage of the Thursday and Friday vacation to go to Detroit to buy their toe shoes for ballet. Among those who went were Mary Slater, Carol Green, Barbara Nunneley, Bonnie Braund and Nancy McCortney.

At the second Gray football game with Poppleton, Oct. 18, Hank Bartholomew is warden in the room this week. The sixth grade girls have resumed their girl scouting with Mrs. W. J. Coffney and Mrs. S. J. Gillen as co-leaders. They meet at Mrs. McCortney's home and are working on their

WALNUT LAKE NEWSLETTER

The Third grade won the paper drive with a record number of papers. Gordon Joritz collected a whole trailer load from his neighbors.

Junior Big, sponsored by the PTA and conducted by Edwin F. Kirbert of the Birmingham YMCA, held its first meeting of the year at the school Wednesday evening. Twenty-five children and many parents were there to hear the conditions under which Junior Big may continue this year.

Program included songs, games and refreshments. These meetings are open to members of the fifth and sixth grades.

Gray-Y, conducted by Ed Kirbert and Shirley Cloutier of the Birmingham YMCA meets every Wednesday afternoon at the school and is open to fourth, fifth and sixth graders.

At the second Gray football game with Poppleton, Oct. 18, Hank Bartholomew is warden in the room this week. The sixth grade girls have resumed their girl scouting with Mrs. W. J. Coffney and Mrs. S. J. Gillen as co-leaders. They meet at Mrs. McCortney's home and are working on their

Seniors Win Field Day

By NED SHARPLES

Squeezing out a four point edge over the runners-up, the senior high school seniors copped the cider barrel, trophy of the annual Field Day program, last week at Pierce field.

Field day features class competition in displays of originality, organization, discipline, and field events. All three classes, each with its own flag and float, paraded from the high school to Pierce field.

Judges observe the procession from various strategic spots en route and award the winning class 15 points, second place 10 points, and third five points.

THIS YEAR'S judges were Kenneth Parker, Mrs. Carol Darling, Ross A. Wagner, Miss Shirley Reid, and Mrs. G. G. Gritsch. They decided sophomores won the parade, with seniors second and juniors third.

Cheering, conducted from the bleachers at Pierce field, is carried on in a noisy and disciplined and well organized manner with first place won by the seniors, second by the sophomores, and third by the juniors.

Jim Newman, president of the senior class, carried the miniature cider barrel for his class, which took six of the 15 first places to total 54 points for their first field day win; second place sophomores tallied 50.6 points while the juniors trailed with 33 points for third place.

Cranbrook Erg Group Presents Seven Plays

Last Saturday evening, Cranbrook Ergaterston presented its first production of "The Interlude in Greasepaint," a series of seven one-act plays. Plays were "Tom Sawyer," "Spring Scene," "Quiet Please," "Beware of Women," "Mountain Hideout," "Tropic in Paradise," and the feature of the evening, "Hands Across The Sea," by Noel Coward.

Erg's next play will be presented Friday and Saturday, Dec. 7 and 8.

Program Prepared For Friday's Game

A picture of the 1951 Birmingham football team will appear for the first time in the football program for the Birmingham-Port Huron game. It will be on sale Friday at school and the game.

Editorial staff for this program is editor, Carolyn Robertson; advertising manager, Bill Chapel; and business, Jack Goldman.

There will be 1000 programs printed instead of the usual 750 because the programs were in such demand at the Ferndale game.

Birmingham Hi-Society

By CAROL HOGSHEAD

A four-day vacation proved to be ample time for the many hayrides, parties, bakeales, football games, and vacations enjoyed by Birmingham students.

Jane Fisher chose Wednesday night to entertain her friends at her home. Singing, games, and dancing filled many an enjoyable hour that night for Nancy Morse, Henry Moore, Kirby Lary, Russ Coleman, Julie Kelley, Lloyd Stuttn, Nancy Lewis, Bill Wentz, Patty Layland, Jim Newman, Janet Brown, Harvey Peters, Jan McLeese, Sterling Withington, Gail Burlingame, Tom Hatchkiss, Jo Wisler, and Tom Oberger.

The girls remained for a slumber party.

OUTLAND'S STABLES was the scene of the Emerald Key hayride Thursday night. After an enjoyable ride, the couples ate, sang, and squired-danced.

Tired, but happy, the girls gathered at the home of Anne Swartwood for a sleepless slumber party.

Perhaps the longest trip was made by Norma Hudson and Carol Maran. Thursday morning they departed by plane for New York. Friday found them in Mount Holyoke, Mass., visiting the college.

Later, Wheaton College in Norton, Mass., became their home for a couple days. The girls attended the sophomore Hop Saturday night, heading for home Sunday.

CHARLOTTE SCHWIMMER spent her vacation in Syracuse, Ind., at the cottage of some friends, enjoying the sunshine. Philadelphia is the destination of Ann Finkbeiner. She and her family spent four days with relatives. Nancy Johnson, Eric Davison, Judy Tuttle, Dick Emery, Julie Kelley, Don Nolta, Carol Hindley, Brant Cramer, Kathy Nieman, Harvey Peters, Gail Burlingame, and Marc Joslyn agree that Chris Levring is the perfect hostess. She entertained her friends Thursday night with talking, singing, dancing, and music on the agenda.

To raise money for the United Foundations Torch Drive, C. T. A. and Emerald Key sponsored a bakeale.

Jan McLeese played hostess to a number of students in her home Friday night.

Patty Layland, Jim Newman, Jo Jo Holt, Marc Joslyn, Joanne Pedder, Gordon Mutek, Nancy Morse, Russ Sanders, Linda Landis, Bill Wentz, Jo Weider, Stu Scheifele, Gail Burlingame, and Bill Dotts celebrated Field Day, the East Detroit victory, and the vacation with laughter, music, and talk.

THE UNITED FOUNDATION editorial content was won by Sandra Pula. Her editorial was "The Flame of Hope." Joan Hefflin received a second place and Russ Sanders third. Janice Cooper, Myrna Miller, and Bob Thacker received honorable mentions.

A thrilling pass by Itek Emery to Sterling "Steve" Withington enabled the Black and White Club to defeat KST 6-0 in their football game at Pierce field Sunday.
