

TRANSPORTING BOOKS in a fever of last-minute activity prior to the start of the AAUW Book Sale are, left to right, Mrs. Walter G. Patton, Mrs. Frederick Sevin and Mrs. Glenn Kyker. The sale opens to the public Monday morning, September 24, at the Edison Building, and continues through Friday. A pre-sale will be held Sunday afternoon, September 23, for representatives from schools and libraries of this area. The sale is open to the public every day from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Monday, Thursday and Friday evening until 9. People who still have books to contribute are asked to bring them to the Edison Building, or to call Mrs. Glenn Kyker for pick-up service.

Musicales Announces Officers For Season

The Birmingham Musicales announces their new officers and committee chairmen as they start their twenty-sixth year. They also announce their schedule, which will include eight monthly programs featuring member soloists, ensemble and guest artists. An evening benefit concert will be given on November 7 at the Community House, presenting Harold Haugh, tenor from the University of Michigan. The proceeds will be divided between the Musicales and the Starr Commonwealth School for Blind.

Mrs. Donald F. Stanton, the new president, has been an active member of the Musicales for the past twenty-five years. Serving with her will be Mrs. William H. Hahnemper, first vice-president; Mrs. Carl B. Black, recording secretary; Mrs. Arthur L. Rodden, corresponding secretary; Mr. Howard E. Hallas, treasurer; and Mrs. Robert C. Gibson, historian; as well as members-at-large Mrs. Edward G. Batty, Mrs. Blair K. Swartz, and Mrs. Lee B. Waites.

Committee chairmen include the mesdames W. Whiting Raymond, program; C. P. Richards, membership; James M. Johnson, honor roll; Maurice Garabant, auditions; Elmore E. Hollinger, social; Earl B. Hart, social; Justice George Souter, house and stage; Herbert Gardner and Norman Kyle, publicity and program; D. L. Tate, public school music and scholarships; I. W. Robertson, budget; Earl Bartholomew, relations; Robert R. Hutchinson, philanthropic; David E. Mosly, music in hospitals; Norman Allen, Community Council representative.

Portrait Class To Begin

Mildred E. Williams announces the opening of a class in portrait painting on Monday, October 1, at her studio on 566 Baldwin Court. Classes in drawing and painting from still life will be held on Thursdays. Classes for teenagers are scheduled for Saturday mornings.

Further information may be obtained from Miss Williams.

Church Group To Celebrate 116 Anniversary

A birthday luncheon will highlight the Sept. 26 meeting of the Presbyterian Women's association. The organization became active when the church was founded in Birmingham 116 years ago and although it has been listed under several different names, has remained essentially the same.

Members of Divisions III and V will have charge of the luncheon which will be served at 12:30 in the church. The afternoon program, scheduled for 1:30, will feature a vocal solo by Bernice Craig and a brief address by the Rev. Robert Graham. Mrs. E. J. Kempf, association president, said another highlight of the program would be the dedication of the medical aid unit, summer offering.

A business meeting will also be held, beginning at 10 a.m.

Parties Held For Bride-Elect

And Dee Seaver were hostesses at a "round the clock" shower at the Seaver home in Franklin on September 14.

Mrs. Elliott S. Kinney of Chesterfield road and her daughter, Barbara, a luncheon in the dining room, entertained at a tea and linen shower on September 16. Bridemaids Mary Gilchrist and Ann Hroning held a luncheon and surprise shower at Orchard Lake Country Club on the eighteenth of September.

Barbara's bridal party, held in her mother's home on September 19, was also a farewell party for Barbara, who will reside in Arizona after her wedding.

Arriving in town for the rehearsal dinner, to be given September 21 at the Mattia home on 11 Mile road, Franklin, is the bride-to-be's brother, Naval Caslet J. Robert Hughes, who will give his sister away at the ceremony on Saturday, the twenty-second of September.

John Fenton Mathews arrived by plane Sunday for a visit of several weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fenton H. Mathews of Brown street.
