BARNUM JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

Radio Workshop is in progress again for the fourth consecutive year. It was officially opened with a meeting of the executive staff Wednesday evening at the home of the supervisor, Mrs. Monzelle Clark.

Problem of having a regular cast of players or selecting a new cast for every show was discussed and it was decided that there would be a regular cast of players. New officers for the year are president, Dave Gibbons; vice president, Betty Quilman; secretary, Anne Duffield; treasurer, Pete Koss; Chief Student Director, Mary Jane Clark; chief of the technical staff, Bob Ketchum; publicity director, Joan Sweeting; and Sergeant at Arms, Jim Taup. Student directors are Dave Gibbons, Jim Taup, Pete Koss and Mary Jane Clark.

Radio Workshop will handle the concession stand at the Barnum football games, and the proceeds will go for the purchase of new drapes for the workshop room. The group will sponsor one of the Barnum dances in the near future.

ALL FOUR of the music organizations are back in the swing again except special chorus which will meet on Monday. The Special Chorus for this year, as last, will be chosen for citizenship and general ability.

Mixed chorus is quite crowded with a count of 219, while Girls' Glee Club numbers 150 and Boys' Glee Club approximately 40. Accompanists are Sandra Overgard, Mary Timmerman, Barb Gowans, Sharon Gray, Katie Albrecht and Bill Schwartz.

Those who had anticipated joining the Boys' Photography Club this year and receiving the expert instruction of Malcolm Tindall, popular boys' counselor, were disappointed. So far this year he has been unable to find the time for this constructive club because of the extra work connected with the many new students attending Barnum this year.

Three hundred and fifty students and twenty teachers are eating the school cafeteria lunch each day. Extra milk and ice cream are sold in the canteen. When the weather turns cooler, the number of students eating at school will be increased.

There are six women and three Barnum students working in the cafeteria every day. Mrs. W. K. Hilling is head cook and manager and her assistant is Mrs. M. Harper. The special Reading Class was instituted under Mr. Bennett and Mr. Buell started working with this class early last year. The idea was to select a group of children with reading problems in a situation where there is time for each individual. The regular English periods do not allow enough time. Objective is to find individual problems and self-awareness.

lack of motivation, lack of vocabulary and failure to have been interested in the past.

The children are tried over a period of six to 12 weeks depending on the seriousness of the problem. They are tested when they enter the class again to estimate progress.

Last year, 14 pupils were enrolled. The results were that each child raised up to two years in reading ability. Some of the aids used were games devised by teachers and by Daleh of the University of Illinois, Gray's Reading Tests and Dolch's Word List, comprised of two-thirds of the average speaking vocabulary.
