The Birmingham Association of University of Michigan Women are launching a drive to collect used formal dresses for students, to be placed in the "Formal Closet."

On the campus in Ann Arbor are many young women who come to college from foreign countries, and due to the financial complications of exchange, their budgets do not allow for festive clothes. The local alumnae group are sponsoring the "Formal Closet" and are looking for dresses as well as shoes, party bags and other accessories, for party occasions.

Mrs. E. Gordon Davis, the local president, states that "Many local women have shown an interest in sharing their evening wardrobe with this worthwhile student group, and welcome such a fine outlet for their finery."

All members of the Alumnae Association will be glad to channel the collection to the home of Mrs. William Burlingame, local chairman, where they are sent out to Ann Arbor each week.

Scottish Heather Carried By Bride

When Patricia Jean Bazanson met James E. Doyle at the altar at eight o'clock Friday evening, September 14, she was carrying some heather sent from Scotland as a token of good luck. The couple repeated their vows at a candlelight ceremony in the First Methodist Church before the Rev. Arnold F. Runkle.

Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas R. Bazanson of Edgewood road. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Doyle of Hazel Park.

For her nuptial the bride chose a gown of white satin with long fitted sleeves and a short train. Piping of chintilly lace accented the ilpiston net yolk and the bodice. A seed pearl tiara held her fingernail veil of illusion net trimmed with lace. In addition to the heather, she carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids set in a stelanotis.

Delores Bazanson served as her sister's maid of honor in a gown of french blue with an illusion yolk and chintilly lace covered bodice. She wore a lace cap and satin shoes of matching hue.

Bridesmaids Rita Wyatt, Donna Abbott and Marilyn Bogg were dressed in shades of pink, green and lavender, all with matching caps, shoes and gloves. They carried cascaded bouquets of pink, yellow and peach carnations. Twelve year old Alpers, the bride's cousin, served as junior bridesmaid wearing a sunshiny yellow satin gown with a chintilly lace covered bodice and four-tiered skirt.

Herbert Doyle was his brother's best man, and seating the 160 guests were Eugene Wilkins, Jack Doyle, another brother of the groom, and the groom's brother-in-law, Bruce Reynolds.

Soloist Ann Morrow was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Mildred Ritter. Mrs. Bazanson chose a four-length dinner dress of ice blue for her daughter's wedding.

MRS. JAMES E. DOYLE

She wore a matching hat. Mrs. Doyle selected a floor-length dress in an orchid shade and a matching hat. Both mothers wore yellow roses.

A RECEPTION immediately following the ceremony was held in the church parlors. Out-town guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Smith, Miss Elizabeth Kline, and Miss Doris Burden, all of Traverse City. Following the reception, at which punch, ice cream and a four-tiered cake were served, a buffet supper was held at the Resanson home for close friends and relatives.

When the couple left for a three week trip to California, the bride was wearing a grey gabardine suit with black and red accessories. The Doyles will be at home in the Bloomfield Terraces after October 8.
