

Perhaps one of the most beautiful exercises known, each spring, is to get the dirt of the soil beneath your finger nails. When you do this you are engaged in co-operation with Nature in the latter's design to make the earth look livelier through growing things.

You'll find our food delicious, prices reasonable, and service good. Birmingham folks like to eat here because it is an informal, friendly place to gather.

THE IDENTITY of the redoubtable Mr. Penny provides the theme of the story. The narrative unfolds in a haunted house which, in keeping with haunted historical estate values, contains buried treasures.

Characters include a tram, a caretaker (dead), a villain (alive), and of course the innocent victims.

MRS. ROBERT J. STUART

Bride Wears Mother's Lace For Saturday Evening Vows

When Gretta Seaholm met Robert J. Stuart at the altar of the First Presbyterian Church Saturday evening in an ivory satin gown and Chantilly lace veil, she was fulfilling the old bridal tradition of "something borrowed and something old."

For the gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, full skirt and full train, was her sister's wedding dress. The lace forming the veil and edging her gown was originally worn by her mother.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Seaholm of Kennasaw street, carried a bouquet of stephanotis and white orchids.

They preceded the bride down the aisle in waltz-length gowns of green net, designed with puffed sleeves and round necklines.

The attendants carried small bird cages filled with pastel Spring flowers, and wore ivy and matching flowers in their hair.

The bride's niece, Christine Hulbert, and the groom's niece, Marilyn Mitchell, were flower girls.

Music Week Plans Fill May 4-11th

Music will fill the air from May 4-11 during a National Music Week. Normally a music-conscious community, a series of events have been planned that will enable every Birmingham resident to enjoy local music organizations during that period.

Making the plans is the Birmingham Musicale, associated with the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs. Mrs. D. L. Tate is chairman of the state-wide event, and Alma Balmat Grimes is general chairman for the local area.

Keynote of this year's observance is "Make Your Life More Musical". Since its beginnings in 1924 the purpose of Music Week has been to foster American music.

Programs have been planned for children's hospitals, veterans' hospitals, schools and churches.

MUSICIANS FROM local junior high school groups, and a high school chorus under the direction of Miss M. C. Breston, will present programs at the Baptist Children's Home and the Pontiac Children's Home.

They will be joined by a choir from Bloomfield Hills High School for programs at the Marine Hospital and the Veterans' Hospital.

Plans are being made for a program at the opening of the new Nurses Home at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

The Birmingham High School Band, under the direction of Arnold Berndt, has scheduled a concert for May 8.

Another feature of the Music Week calendar is a carillon concert at Christ Church Cranbrook. Climax of Birmingham Music Week will be a concert by local musicians in the Community House on May 4 to which the public is invited.

In addition, many local service clubs have scheduled special music programs.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS of the Spring music season are the Moment Musical's annual Spring Concert, April 30, and the annual Junior Musicale Concert on May 14.

Localite Has Lead In Cranbrook Play

Robert Whitlatch, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Whitlatch of Lakeview drive, will play the lead when Cranbrook presents the Spewack farce, "Boy Meets Girl" on April 25-26 at the Cranbrook auditorium.

Summer Theatre members Mary Lou Simons and Jane Phillips will play the female lead in alternate casts.

Playing the many Hollywood writers are Buddy Moore, Jim August, Tom Lowmes, and Ralph Himmelschlag.

A declining cowboy is portrayed by John Irwin and Jack Bagdade. Others boys in the cast are Tom Roberts, Ray Brant, Todd Corley, Jack Pence, Ed Born, Rick Martin, Bob Sprague Ralph Miller and Bob Sargeant.

Girls from the Theatre School include Marlene Cole, Norma Hudson, Carole Kammer, Camille Sink, Julie Ditchy and Cheryl Hubar.

Carl C. Wonnberger and Evans Meinecke will direct. The stage crew, under the direction of Richard Hintermeister, is headed by Bob Sprague and Jim Robertson. Jim August is publicity chief.

Julie Harrigan Wed in Alaska

On April 5 Julie Frances Harrigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Harrigan of Greenwood road, became the bride of Brent Paul McKee.

The wedding took place at the Post chapel of Camp Richardson, Anchorage, Alaska, before the Rev. Charles Roth.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Bradshaw McKee of Greece Pointe. The couple will reside in Alaska where the groom is stationed with the Army and returns in December to make their home in Birmingham.

in hoop-skirted gowns of yellow chiffon and marigolds. They also wore ivy and flowers in their hair, and wore ball bouquets on their wrists.

The best man was John A. Mitchell. Seating the guests were the groom's brother Thomas Seaholm, William Hulbert, Robert Mose, Frank Heilmann and Richard Rhodoy.

AT THE HOME RECEPTION which followed, Mrs. Seaholm greeted guests in a full-length gown of rosewood lace and chiffon with a matching lace Eton jacket. Fancies were fashioned to her purse.

Mrs. Stuart wore a toast lace gown, accented with blue hyacinth.

Before leaving on a Florida wedding tour, the bride wore a suit of French blue with navy accessories and a blue straw hat trimmed in white.

On their return later in the month, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart will make their home on Yorkshire road.
