MISS ANONDI KENOWAR, shown here with Mrs. Howard Reid, was the guest speaker at the Feb. 7 meeting of the Baptist Church women. Miss Kenowar, a native of Impuri, Assam, India, discussed the need for trained Christian workers to serve with her people. One of India's leading women writers, she is in the United States on an extensive lecture tour sponsored by the Women's American Baptist Foreign Missionary society.

Presbyterian Five Wins Two; Snaps Losing Streak

First Presbyterian Church snapped a four game losing streak to rack up two impressive wins this week in the Birmingham YMCA Church league. Its first victim was Christ Church Cranbrook quiet who was trampled 71 to 46.

Presbyterian lads pulled Lathrup Townsite Church out of a tie for first place with a 37 to 28 defeat. St. James maintained its winning ways with a 64 to 27 romp over Southfield United Presbyterian church.

Standings are St. James Episcopal and First Methodist, five wins, one loss; Lathrup Townsite, five wins, two defeats; First Presbyterian, three wins, four losses; Embury Methodist, two wins, four defeats; and Southfield United Pres. and Christ Church Cranbrook, one win, five losses.

BITS OF BIRMINGHAM

According to an article in The Highlander, new Birmingham high school newspaper, "The King and I" was the choice of most members of the 1952 Washington Group for the play they wish to see in New York during spring vacation. A total of 64 members voted for the first choice and second was "South Pacific" with 40 votes.

Do you have a yen for drawing but don't know what to sketch? Then why not go to the Detroit Institute of Arts any Friday evening at 8 o'clock and practice sketching the works of the world's greatest artists? For a 50-cent fee, you receive all the necessary materials. No formal instruction is provided, but members of the Museum's education department are on hand to give pointers.

Did the snow which fell Friday afternoon seem to you to have a pinkish cast? It did to Dr. Tom Neal, 559 Greenwood, who was out shoveling his walks that afternoon. "Perhaps it was caused by some dust storm in the southwest," he conjectured.

This Wanderer has heard some discussion that there should be a trophy case in some central location in the city whereby various local achievements can be recognized. Throughout the year, trophies are awarded for different activities and because there is no place for them, they are kept in individual homes where they can be seen by very few people. It appears that some local organization could do a fine public service by sponsoring a case which could be placed in a public building in the city.

If the current interest in baseball keeps up in this city, a number of very fine players should be developed here. Last year, young diamond aspirants were given good baseball training in the Little League organization. In addition, a school in baseball fundamentals for the younger players was conducted by the recreation department. With present plans in formation for a league for boys between 13 and 15, players will have a chance to continue participating until they are of high school age.

Have You Ever Dreamed . . .

of a Cape Cod house with a white picket fence? Has your growing family made this seem impractical?

Our three-year-old home offers surprising roominess behind its brick Cape Cod exterior.

The center hall provides maximum separation of downstairs rooms, which include den and lavatory. Hotpoint cabinets, dishwasher and disposal simplify kitchen tasks.

The 12x16 master bedroom features three exposures, large wardrobes, excellent wall spaces for furniture arrangement, plus an alcove for chair or chaise. The second bedroom amply accommodates a twin bed set and has a broad alcove. The third bedroom is 8 1/2 x 12.

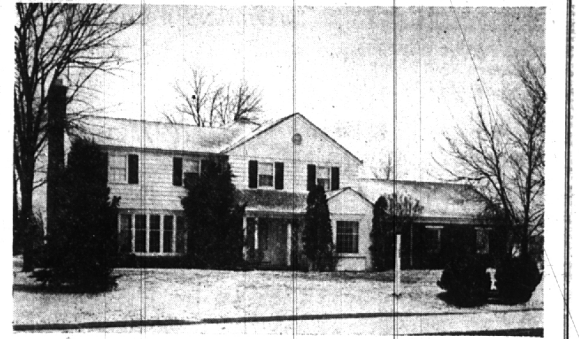

Our 10x12 screened porch overlooks the attractive fenced yard where your pre-school children can romp safely. School-age children will attend Quarton School. Older children will like the proximity to the new high school.

You will appreciate our aim to make this a fine permanent home when you see the pale gray Gulestan carpets downstairs, the built-in corner cabinets which decorate the dining room, the large mantle with white marble facing and slate hearth, and the better lighting fixtures throughout.

You can move in in thirty days, if you wish, with no expensive additions to make. The attached two-car garage, combination storms and screens, and growing shrubbery eliminate the extras you often have to consider in buying a new home.
