It looks like a "POWER YEAR"

New Horsepower—new Brake Power—and new Power Steering blossom on Buick's ROADMASTER for 1952

MAYBE you've heard—horsepower has hit a new high on the ROADMASTER. Brake power has done the same. But today, we'd like to concentrate on the third member of the power trio—Buick's own version of Power Steering, available on ROADMASTERS at a moderate extra cost. What is this Power Steering like? It's something like a helping hand, something like a "hydraulic slave"—that relieves you of all steering strain, but lets you keep command. What we mean is this: Power Steering is handled by a special hydraulic unit—and engineers can design this unit to take over any amount of steering effort—even to a point where the wheel seems to float in your hand. But in that case, you'd surrender all control to that hydraulic unit—get no steering "feel" from the wheel. Now suppose you're telling two agile tons of automobile what to do in traffic. We think you'd like to have it know that you're in command. And—out on the straightaway—we believe that a part of the joy you get from owning a Buick is the sensation of having something alive and eagerly willing beneath your hands. So we're glad to announce that Buick engineers didn't spoil this thrill. They've kept the fun of driving, and simply eased the effort. When you're rolling along smooth and straight, it takes almost no effort to keep any Buick on course.

It almost steers itself, as every Buick owner knows. But—when you want to get away from a curb—back into a parking spot—make a turn—Buick's Power Steering comes into action, saves four-fifths of the effort required with ordinary steering. Power Steering does the extra work. And—in case you wonder what happens if Power Steering gets out of kilter, the answer is nothing. Your Buick steers just as it always has. That's why we've been saying, "This is Power Steering as it ought to be." Come in. Try it out. We think you'll agree. Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Sure is true for '52.
