

There are created, in various forms...

74TH YEAR—NO. 47

...S and THAT

Evil Lives But to Die! Your objective observer of this world scene...

SOME OF IT is accomplished by bullets, but in some cases it is being done through force of bullets...

Perhaps, one may agree, these patterns of human groping for a better civilization are in keeping with the evolutionary design of Providence...

AS A MATTER OF fact, even while today's civilization in most ways is better than its past, much wrong still remains the daily activity of most of earth's people...

President Truman is organizing work on the White House...

Once again, the venerable Uncle Sam is now being kicked around by such small nations as...

If this nation requires more money for its war budget than it can raise through taxes...

The President of Ohio's Denison University recently pleaded with some Detroit businessmen...

Fire Damages Slight From Defective Fireplace A defective fireplace caused a small fire Sunday evening at the R. J. Morgan home...

Runs Into House As Car Goes Out of Control A beginner-driver, Mrs. Mary Hyde, 708 Orchard, lost control of her car Sunday...

Expect Introduction Of Four Gas Safety Bills to Legislature Four bills dealing with gas safety measures are expected to be introduced before the state legislature...

...that opened my eyes gentlemen. The smallest market available, right in The Economic War...

PHONE MI 4-1100 Ask for the Want Ad desk

PATROLMAN LaMAR GILCHRIST, MRS. HAZEL KINSEY

Grocery store clerk receives first "official" radar ticket.

Use Wheeler Photo

'R-Day' Speeders Total 16

Birmingham police issued 16 speeding tickets during the first day of "full operation" of the new radar speed control unit.

Starting shortly after 8 a.m., the first speeder was stopped in the Adams school area within 15 minutes of the time the two cars left the police garage.

Open House for New High School Planned Later

An "Open House" for the new Birmingham high school will be held after more of its facilities are completed...

Officer in Korea Released From Army Hospital

First Lt. Richard O. Williams has been released from the base hospital at Taegu, Korea...

Turns Into House As Car Goes Out of Control

A beginner-driver, Mrs. Mary Hyde, 708 Orchard, lost control of her car Sunday and crashed into the corner of the Cole house...

Expect Introduction Of Four Gas Safety Bills to Legislature

Four bills dealing with gas safety measures are expected to be introduced before the state legislature by the Feb. 13 deadline...

cities, larger and more congested than ours, can control speed accidents, so can we.

Moxley reported the first day's activities to commission members Monday night. Commissioner Milton Mallerender said he would like to wait until more of the building is finished...

Stiles clocked the first speeder. Mrs. Hazel Kinsey of Rochester, a local grocery clerk, at 42 mph in a 25-mile zone.

At the first station, North Adams road, the radar car was parked just inside the city limits near the Grand Trunk viaduct.

Lyle Groves Denies Any Part in Local Thefts

Questioned by Birmingham detectives, Lt. William Green and Det. Merlin Holmquist, Lyle Groves, Jr., has steadfastly refused to admit any part in a series of thefts of which he was suspected.

Green said Monday that the Detroit from Miami, Fla., last week, denied any part in a series of home robberies which took place here during the summer.

GROVES, according to Holmquist, is a 29-year-old Floridian who works in the vicinity of Keppel Harbor, saying he was in Florida by that time.

"WE FEEL that if the unit can save one life that is better than itself. We also feel that if other get the necessary funds to complete within five years.

"OUR POOL when built will be a community type pool, at least 50 feet by 60, and in operation six days a week from 10 in the morning till 10 at night.

"THE TIME is not yet ripe for an outdoor municipal pool," stated Mrs. Lewis Sappington, School Board delegate...

Leading to the decision of the Council was a report by Ed Kirbert, Birmingham's YMCA director, who said that a swimming pool is to be included in the new YMCA building at 400 E. Lincoln, and

To Explain Functions Of Parties City Looks to State Policy To Protect B'ham's Disposal Facilities

Prominent members of both Republican and Democratic parties will be present in Birmingham on Feb. 15 from 10:15 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Community House when the League of Women Voters sponsors an all-day political forum in which party organization and function from the precinct up to the national level will be discussed.

Special emphasis will be placed on the role each individual voter can play in the party of his choice.

Representatives will be there to talk informally with the audience. Members of both parties will register those interested in working in their parties.

They have feared development of this Mercer property before any remedies could be put into effect.

They have feared development of this Mercer property before any remedies could be put into effect.

Welfare Violator Fined; More Enforcement Due

Earl O. Curry, New Boston resident, was fined $100 in Birmingham for violation of city's welfare ordinance.

THIS WOULD put a tremendous additional load on present city facilities.

TECHNICALLY, Birmingham officials are not interested in how many city disposal plants they have, but the state water resources commission is.

Better Night Lighting To Be Investigated

A report on how the city can be better lighted at night is to be prepared by City Manager D. C. Egbert at the request of City Commissioner Frank Rising.

Turns Into Immediate Support of 2 Pools

Birmingham's Community Council will not back a subscription campaign to complete the new high school swimming pool, nor will it support the building of a municipal pool at this time.

The Council resolved that a high school swimming pool is important and desirable in the near future, but felt that its completion should be up to the taxpayers' vote rather than a privately conducted campaign.

"OUR POOL when built will be a community type pool, at least 50 feet by 60, and in operation six days a week from 10 in the morning till 10 at night.

By GEORGE WM. AVERILL

With the January 22nd announcement of the $700,000 sale and pending development of the 300-acre Mercer farm, Birmingham city commissioners immediately were faced with the defense of the city's sewage disposal facilities on Cranbrook road just below Lincoln avenue.

City commissioners during this interval have been working toward alleviation of this disposal problem which can be settled in one of several ways.

They have feared development of this Mercer property before any remedies could be put into effect.

They have feared development of this Mercer property before any remedies could be put into effect.

Criticizes Ambulance Service

He doesn't like to see the city go into the "ambulance business" but if private enterprise doesn't provide much better service than the present city ambulance service, the city should consider it.

MINOR SAID he believed it was about time the commission reviewed the ambulance service in the city, and if they were not adequate, for the city to adopt a proposed plan.

TECHNICALLY, Birmingham officials are not interested in how many city disposal plants they have, but the state water resources commission is.

PRECEDING THE final decision of the Council, various groups reported on the decisions, regarding the swimming pool question.

The Chamber of Commerce was reported as definitely against a municipal pool at this time.

"OUR POOL when built will be a community type pool, at least 50 feet by 60, and in operation six days a week from 10 in the morning till 10 at night.

"THE TIME is not yet ripe for an outdoor municipal pool," stated Mrs. Lewis Sappington, School Board delegate...

Leading to the decision of the Council was a report by Ed Kirbert, Birmingham's YMCA director, who said that a swimming pool is to be included in the new YMCA building at 400 E. Lincoln, and

By GEORGE WM. AVERILL

With the January 22nd announcement of the $700,000 sale and pending development of the 300-acre Mercer farm, Birmingham city commissioners immediately were faced with the defense of the city's sewage disposal facilities on Cranbrook road just below Lincoln avenue.

City commissioners during this interval have been working toward alleviation of this disposal problem which can be settled in one of several ways.

They have feared development of this Mercer property before any remedies could be put into effect.

They have feared development of this Mercer property before any remedies could be put into effect.

Advantages and disadvantages of annexing areas adjacent to the city were discussed by city commissioners Monday evening, but they decided to let their present policy stand for the time being.

The discussion arose following presentation of a report from City Manager Donald C. Egbert concerning the city's annexation policies and conversations he had had with individuals who may wish to have their areas taken over by Birmingham.

MINOR SAID he believed it was about time the commission reviewed the ambulance service in the city, and if they were not adequate, for the city to adopt a proposed plan.

TECHNICALLY, Birmingham officials are not interested in how many city disposal plants they have, but the state water resources commission is.

PRECEDING THE final decision of the Council, various groups reported on the decisions, regarding the swimming pool question.

The Chamber of Commerce was reported as definitely against a municipal pool at this time.

"OUR POOL when built will be a community type pool, at least 50 feet by 60, and in operation six days a week from 10 in the morning till 10 at night.

"THE TIME is not yet ripe for an outdoor municipal pool," stated Mrs. Lewis Sappington, School Board delegate...

Leading to the decision of the Council was a report by Ed Kirbert, Birmingham's YMCA director, who said that a swimming pool is to be included in the new YMCA building at 400 E. Lincoln, and

By GEORGE WM. AVERILL

With the January 22nd announcement of the $700,000 sale and pending development of the 300-acre Mercer farm, Birmingham city commissioners immediately were faced with the defense of the city's sewage disposal facilities on Cranbrook road just below Lincoln avenue.

City commissioners during this interval have been working toward alleviation of this disposal problem which can be settled in one of several ways.

They have feared development of this Mercer property before any remedies could be put into effect.

They have feared development of this Mercer property before any remedies could be put into effect.

Criticizes Ambulance Service

He doesn't like to see the city go into the "ambulance business" but if private enterprise doesn't provide much better service than the present city ambulance service, the city should consider it.

MINOR SAID he believed it was about time the commission reviewed the ambulance service in the city, and if they were not adequate, for the city to adopt a proposed plan.

TECHNICALLY, Birmingham officials are not interested in how many city disposal plants they have, but the state water resources commission is.

PRECEDING THE final decision of the Council, various groups reported on the decisions, regarding the swimming pool question.

The Chamber of Commerce was reported as definitely against a municipal pool at this time.

"OUR POOL when built will be a community type pool, at least 50 feet by 60, and in operation six days a week from 10 in the morning till 10 at night.

"THE TIME is not yet ripe for an outdoor municipal pool," stated Mrs. Lewis Sappington, School Board delegate...

Leading to the decision of the Council was a report by Ed Kirbert, Birmingham's YMCA director, who said that a swimming pool is to be included in the new YMCA building at 400 E. Lincoln, and get the necessary funds to complete within five years.

"OUR POOL when built will be a community type pool, at least 50 feet by 60, and in operation six days a week from 10 in the morning till 10 at night.