MULTIPLE USE BOMBER—Built by Douglas for the U. S. Navy, this is the new 52-3 Skyraider "Multiplex" bomber, said to be the most versatile airplane ever to fly. Embodying a new design concept, basic Skyraiders are produced as a "universal chassis" along with packaged conversion kits. Aboard Navy carrier aircraft supplies the fleet directly with a basic attack plane; transport planes; tow-target planes; passenger planes; ambulance transport planes; and a variety of radar planes.

Historically Famous Names Plentiful Here

By ALICE E. MORGAN

History, they tell us, never repeats itself. Be that as it may, historically famous names repeat themselves frequently and oftentimes set the hearer to wondering.

For instance—is Birmingham's John Abbott, of 480 N. Glenhurst, vice-president of Rotary Electric Steel, related to the John Abbott who became famous as an early American historical writer?

The second and sixth presidents of the infant United States were named John Adams. In Birmingham one John Adams, who lives at 341 S. Woodward, is sexton of St. James church; another, whose home is at 1832 S. Bates is sales manager of Both Aluminum; the third local JA is a GMC engineer and lives at 722 Graefield court.

The first James Adams made his bid for fame in historical writing. His namesakes here include an engineer for Westinghouse, living at 978 Graefield and whose home is in Bloomfield Hills. This particular James Adams is head of MacMabus, John and A. D. M., which now is erecting a new office building in Bloomfield Hills.

Robin Adair is a name which became famous in song earlier in the century. The Robin Adair of this community makes his home at 1698 S. Bates and is one of the area's physicians.

YEARS AGO a George Moore did much to raise Ireland's name in the field of dramatic literature. A George Moore living at 935 Pleasant is a master mechanic for the Square-D brand of automobile. And so it goes. We hear the names and we wonder. There's Sertes Claus, whom we all know and there's A. Claus, living at 1692 S. Woodward and working as manager for a department store chain. Are they related?

There's Jack Frost, who bustles about, nipping noses and freezing ponds, while his namesake works as a General Motors engineer.

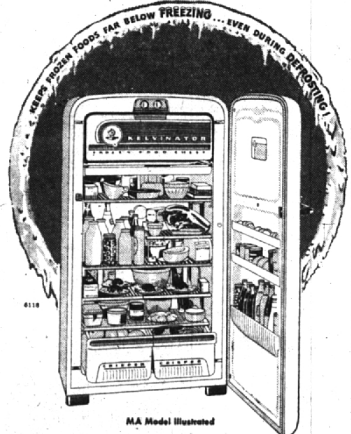

History, they tell us, never repeats itself. Be that as it may, we still wonder about names that are famous in history and today are being spoken a dozen times a day to and about our next-door neighbors.

OCEAN LIFE IN GLASS—John Armstrong of New York's Museum of Natural History examines a delicate glass model of a globigerina bullidate, a one-celled ocean animal. The model, made by Herman Mueller, one of the world's most famous glass blowers, is 175 times the size of the actual creature.
