LAMPREY PROGRESS REPORT
Bad days are ahead for the Sea Lamprey in the Great Lakes. This blood-sucking destroyer of our most highly prized sports and food fish is losing its battle with man—its sole enemy. Scientists from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service are waging war on a big scale, anticipating adequate financing following President Truman's recent signature to a bill appropriating $444,000 to finance the project.

Where will the war be fought? All along the shores of the Great Lakes, in streams and rivers identified as sea lamprey spawning grounds after seven years of careful observation.

1952 Spawning Run Ended
July marks the end of the lamprey spawning period, and biologists say the run in Lake Huron is about the same as last year, a little higher in Lake Michigan and Lake Superior. Electric fences and traps have established the count on selected representative streams used for spawning, of which more than 200 have been designated throughout the entire Great Lakes. Before control of the lamprey can be expected, all of the 200 streams must be blocked off to the spawning predator—and this is going to be a long job.

Canadian Streams Problem
Along the north shore of Lake Superior sea lampreys have displaced a Birmingham resident, Mort Neff, "Michigan Outdoors" television Show appears every Thursday at 10:15 p.m. over Station WWJ-TV.

American Legion Post Hits Snag For First Loss

Birmingham's American Legion Post went down to its first defeat at the hands of the Royal Oak Post last week, 5-2, but bounced back in Sunday's game at Waterford to take a 6-4 win.

Pitcher Dick Sheldon was given the loss while Royal Oak picked up one run in the first, two in the third and two in the seventh.

Birmingham scored three runs in a wild fourth and went on to victory. Mike Heferan held Waterford to three hits up to the ninth inning when they scored two runs off five hits.

Royal Oak and Birmingham now lead the league with one loss apiece and were slated to meet again Wednesday night. Should Birmingham win this game there will be a playoff game between the two.

FRIENDLY BANK

A LESSON EVERY CHILD SHOULD LEARN

Two of the most important things you can teach your child are the value of money—and the habit of saving it systematically. A savings pass book in your child's name provides a worthy outlet for the collecting "insanity" most children have, gives him an incentive to see his balance grow. And the story of interest earned by his money is a valuable business lesson, too.

Help your child open his own account, to grow with him, at this friendly bank. One dollar will start him.

REST OF THE YEAR

The proper use in your garden of BUCKWHEAT HULLS can eliminate all weeding and cultivating for the rest of the year.

1. Thoroughly weed and cultivate the area to be preserved.
2. Spread BUCKWHEAT HULLS evenly about 1-1/2 inches deep.
3. Now REST.

The BUCKWHEAT HULLS provide a smooth good looking surface, allow water to go through to the soil, holds moisture in the soil and smother most weeds.

You Can't Judge a Book by the Cover

Neither can you judge an insurance agency from the outside. While agencies furnish the same standard policies and protection, there's a whole of a difference in the services rendered.

Good service comes as a result of knowledge, experience and know-how. So, before you judge this agency, experience what we mean by "SERVICE Beyond the Contract."

Rural Family Gets Michigan Bell's Two Millionth Telephone!

THIS WEEK, there have been mighty important goings-on at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pond of Holt, a pleasant and prosperous rural community near Lansing.

The glistering new telephone wire which installer William R. Mufgford ran in to the Ponds' residence looks like any other new telephone wire. But inside the house, at the end of that wire, is a new telephone, inscribed with these words:

Two Millionth Telephone
Michigan Bell Telephone Company
Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pond
Holt, Mich., July 15, 1952

This telephone is an important new member of the Pond family. It unites Clifford and Sylvia Pond with their three daughters, five grandchildren, and Mr. Pond's parents, all living in nearby communities within the same local telephone calling area.

While strengthening family ties, this two millionth telephone stands as a symbol of your telephone company's strength—the kind of strength needed to furnish a service that is essential to everyday life and vital to defense.

Michigan Bell's two millionth telephone is placed in the farm home of Clifford and Sylvia Pond by installer William R. Mufgford. Since the first telephone was installed in Michigan in 1877, the telephone and Michigan's growth have always gone hand in hand, and as new telephones are added, the value of the service to everyone increases.

Power-driven digger on telephone truck helps set a pole for the new line to Clifford Pond's farm. Fast, efficient tools that speed the construction work of telephone crews, as well as all the other telephone equipment needed to provide service, are made possible by people who have invested their savings in the telephone business. In Michigan, one out of every 75 families is a part-owner of the telephone business.
