Tour Europe

Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson are back in their Meadowdale lane home after a two-month European vacation. Flying when ever possible they toured France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany and England. An interesting highlight was their running into local folk Mrs. Frank Cousins and Evelyn Keyes, at Hotel George V in Paris. Disappointing was Mrs. Robinson's loss of jewels and cash to a thief in the Milan station.

The Robinsons returned in time to be with their son John, on furlough from Fort Riley, Kan. John has left since for Officer Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga. Daughter Betty has gone to Washington, D. C., to contemplate a career in the government.

Vacation Trips

The Homer Hyde's have returned from a two-week vacation tour of the New England states. They stopped at Fairhaven, Mass., to visit with the Rev. Cliff Hoffman, former pastor of the Franklin Community church. One interesting spot on their trip was their tour of the Chinook kennels at Waldoboro, Me., and lunch with the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson Bingham and children Charles, David and Nancy Jane left last Sunday for vacation upstate. Their holiday headquarters is Loat Creek ranch at Mio.

With Chevrolet

Harry F. Barr, who has been with Cadillac since 1929, assumed the position of assistant chief engineer of the Chevrolet division of General Motors as of June 1. He preceded this move with a flying trip with Ed. N. Cole, Chevrolet Chief engineer, to Bay de Noc on Lake Superior for several days of fishing with a group of six associates, among them George Rothrock, also of Franklin.

Hostesses

Mrs. Ray Fracassi was hostess to seven guests last Friday at a luncheon at her home on Lahser road.

Mr. Clifford Baugh was hostess to members of the Highland Park Progressive club when the group met at her home on Crestwood drive last week for its annual summer party. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Nettie Morford. The 50 guests arrived early in the afternoon for a picnic lunch and an afternoon of musical entertainment.

Shower

Mrs. Jack LeVan was hostess at a stork shower last Thursday night at her home on Garden Way, honoring Mrs. Harry Klingler, Jr., of Birmingham. Other guests were Mrs. Howard H. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Victor C. Koch, Mrs. Robert R. Klingler, Miss Phyllis Klingler, Mrs. C. E. Wilson, Jr., and Mrs. George Dix, all from Birmingham, and Mrs. Edmund Burke of Detroit.

Party

Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Greig of 14-Mile road, their summer social calendar typically filled with informal get-togethers and swimming parties, overdid it last year to the extent that they didn't get the leaves raked from their spacious wooded yard last fall. They invited 12 couples to come to their home on a recent Saturday, an early supper at what Mrs. Greig dubbed an "experimental" party—the invitation requesting that all come early, the males attired in jeans and each equipped with his own rake.

Here from Scotland

Here from Edinburgh for a four-month's visit is Mrs. Grace Watson. Her cousin, Miss Grace Henderson, and Mrs. Hugh White met her at Montreal and brought her to Franklin. She is staying now with Miss Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Henderson at their place on 13-Mile road and will visit nieces in Royal Oak and Huntington Woods before returning to Scotland.

Attend Graduation

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hoytaya, of Seaside drive, spent the weekend in South Bend where they attended the graduation of their son, Jack Blalock. Jack has been inducted into the Marines and has just left for the base at Quantico.

In the Service

Lt. Stuart Adams, USNR, was recalled to active duty on May 30. After a month at Grose Ile, he will transfer to the base at San Diego. His wife and their daughter Anna Mary are with him and will take up residence in San Diego next month.

New Arrival

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Guine, of Meadowdale lane, announce the birth of a daughter, Carolyn Patterson, on April 4.

Circle Notes

The Friendly Circle will meet next Wednesday, June 13, at the home of Mrs. Arnold Damb on Middle Straits lake for a potluck picnic. The ladies will be guests of the Evening Circle when it meets at 8:15 the next night, Thursday, at the home of Mrs. Ed. Green, to hear Dr. Thelma Janssen, a professor at Wayne, discuss Michigan folklore. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. William Lerooy, Mrs. Charles Gardner, Mrs. Norman Meyers and Mrs. Richard Rocamora.

Brownie Fly-up

Brownie Troop 59 donned uniforms for the last time today when they became Intermediate Scouts at "fly-up" ceremonies held at the Franklin Community church auditorium. The girls went on a cook-out after the rites. Mrs. Clyde Worley was leader of the troop and Mrs. Dwight Ensign its co-leader. They have been assisted by Mrs. V. E. Matulis and Mrs. John Scolaro.

Firemanship School

Members of the Franklin Volunteer Fire department have been busy every weekday night since Monday, June 2 with a University of Michigan extension course on firemanship. There have been lectures and outdoor practice and training including "dry runs" simulating operations from the moment a call is received until the tanks are refilled and all gear stowed. Operations last Monday were the extinguishment of a series of oil fires using fog equipment. The group was joined in the course of training by the recently organized North Farmington volunteer department.

Welcome, Neighbor

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Monzi, formerly of Detroit, have moved into their new home on Woodside court. Monzi is a designer in the engineering division of Chrysler.

Vacation Time Means Greater Driving Care

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley today asked local motorists to remember that school vacations which are starting, increase greatly the chance of accidents to children.

"We'll have a couple of thousand youngsters out of school in a little while," he said, "and they will be traveling to playgrounds, the stores, movies, churches, and friends' houses. Most of them are apt to get a little absent-minded about traffic now and then and to protect them everyone of us who drives should make extra care a habit."

"During this time of year traffic mishaps involving children rise sharply. Last year most of the hundred pedestrians who were killed by cars were children."

"BIRMINGHAM has been very fortunate because our drivers and youngsters have cooperated to the fullest. I feel sure that the youngsters will be careful, but I also want to impress upon all drivers that they are sometimes impulsive and unpredictable."

"Whenever they forget to be careful, the driver should remember that their lives are in his hands."

Father-Son Banquet

The annual father-son banquet of the First Baptist church will be held Friday, June 13, at 7 p.m. Movies of cartoons and baseball plus a feature act, will be featured during the program.

"MR. FORMAL" for the University of Michigan, David L. Higgins of Bloomfield Hills, will compete with campus winners from the nation's big universities and colleges in a contest to discover "America's Mr. Formal." The winner will receive a week's all-expense trip to New York, and $500 defense bond and a screen test by RKO Pictures.

Discuss Paving Request At Hearing on June 16

Birmingham city commissioners have selected June 16 for a hearing to determine the necessity for the construction of a pavement on Cheltenham from Sheffield to Dunstable; on Dunstable from Cheltenham to Melton and on Sheffield from Cheltenham to Melton. The paving has been requested by Edward Rose and Sons, builders who have recently purchased from the city several lots abutting Sheffield and Cheltenham. Rose, the City of Birmingham and the Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit are the three property owners involved.

Want-ads cannot be accepted after 5 p.m. each Tuesday.
