

It is not true with most of us that we wake first to music of new day in routine activities that, a day later, we seldom recall much of the day before? Indeed, twentieth century living tends to keep us from enjoying glorious experiences to remember.

MRS. JOHN ALAN ZINN

Groom's Father Best Man At Zinn-Brennen Nuptials

When John Alan Zinn met Patricia Marie Brennen at the foot of the altar in the church of St. Hugo of the Hills for their Saturday noon nuptials, he was accompanied by his father, Bernard F. Zinn, his best man.

Former residents of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Zinn now make their home at Lake Angelus. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Brennen of East Lansing.

The Rev. John Howard read the service. For the double-ring vows the bride selected a gown of white skimmer satin. Her strapless bodice was topped with a Chantilly lace jacket and matching capelet which extended into a chapel train.

An Elizabethan collar and bouffant nylon net overskirt completed her gown. The bride wore a bandeau of shirred imported silk illusion edged with lace and lily-of-the-valley clusters.

Suzanne Skehan of Lansing performed the services of maid of honor in a strapless ballerina-length gown of pale green. Her nylon net matching Chantilly lace jacket and cloche cap were in matching shades.

She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

BRIDESMAID Barbara Johnson was attired in pale orchid shaded gown fashioned similar to that of the honor attendant. Her colonial bouquet was formed from yellow roses.

Two brothers of the groom, Fred and Robert Zinn and Van Monroe were ushers.

A two-piece dress of candlelight beige lace and cotton accessories were worn by Mrs. Brennen. Her corsage was composed of green orchids.

MRS. ZINN wore a suit of powder blue Honan silk with white accessories. Her flowers were brown orchids.

Luncheon at Rotunda Inn immediately followed the ceremony. The newlyweds left on an Eastern trip which will include a stay in New York City. For traveling the new Mrs. Zinn wore a three-piece gray suit with pink accessories and a white orchid.

They will be at home in Birmingham on their return.

J. R. Miller Claims Bride In Santa Fe

John R. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Miller of Enonans street, met his bride at the altar of the Presbyterian Church of Santa Fe, New Mexico, at five o'clock Tuesday afternoon, June 3.

The bride, the former Viola Mae Chess, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Chess of San Marino, Cal. Both she and the groom had graduated from the University of New Mexico the previous day.

The bridal gown was fashioned of embroidered organza over pale blue, with a blue sash. A narrow circle of embroidered flowers held the bride's shoulder-length veil. She carried a bouquet centered with white gardenias.

THE BRIDE'S sister, Linda was her only attendant. She also wore pale blue organza, a cap, headpiece, and carried pink roses.

Mr. Miller was his son's best man. Ushering were Philip Huntington of Canton, Ohio, and Albert Eisenberg of Chicago.

Mrs. Chess attended the vows in a turquoise dress with white head trimming and a white feathered hat. She wore a corsage of pink red roses.

The mother of the groom was in blue shantung with a white hat. Her corsage was of pale pink roses.

AFTER AN informal reception in the Santa Fe Room of the La Florida Hotel, the couple left for an Eastern wedding trip. For traveling the new Mrs. Miller selected a smoke blue bolero costume.

On their return, newly-commissioned Ensign Miller will report for duty with the U. S. Navy at San Diego, Cal.

FATHER'S DAY SUNDAY, JUNE 15

Gifts

Make your gift to father this year, a memorable one for him... May we suggest material things such as books of fiction and travel, biographies, classics and poetry... and, as you know, a man's desire for leather goods never wanes. So, we suggest belts, billfolds, toilet kits, humidors, ash trays, brushes, picture frames and many other items in leather. Above all things be sure to see the picnic kits, fashioned by the American Thermos Company. They consist of two-quart containers, sandwich box, zipper case. Excellent for week-end picnics.

Special attention will be given to children desiring to make their purchases here. Everything will be wrapped as a gift.
