

There is, of course, more wealth produced in the U.S.A. than any other place on earth. People who work produce it, and should share in its security. To those willing to produce efficiently, industriously, should go the rewards of labor.

HOMING PIGEONS always return to their roosts and we've heard of dogs finding their way across the country to former abodes, but the case of the "homing cat" is new to computer annals.

Several days after the Paul Hymans moved to their new home on Yarmouth, Bloomfield Village, their pet feline vanished. This sad item was duly reported in their "Have You Met" notice to this office. However, it wasn't long before the new owners of their home in Sherwood Forest phoned with the news that kitty was perched on the front porch. We wonder which route she took.

WITH THE ADVENT of summer on the calendar and otherwise, news on the local front has simmered down to a slow boil. The Newcomers' Club ceased activity for the duration of the "dog days" with a June 19 luncheon at the Community House, followed by a tour of Cranbrook.

Local gardeners are deep in transforming theory into practice in their own backyards. The House Gardeners unit of the Woman's National Farm and Garden will hold "workshop" sessions at members' homes bi-monthly until September. We would like to invite the group to a wedding seminar on our long-suffering plot.

NOT TO BE DENIED were the hosts of amateur photographers which swarmed over the graduation exercises at Birmingham High School last week. The proud fathers were divided into two classes; those who had bought the camera to take junior's first step and now filmed him as he took his diploma; and those who frankly admitted that "they didn't know where to point the thing."

WHICH BRINGS TO MIND a matter of vast social significance. In the future the back-seat driver will speak with considerable authority. Registration in the high school's driving course last term numbered 24 girls to 3 lone males. However, we imagine the "minority group" rises to power when there is a fire to change.

STARTLED SHOPPERS stopped to stare last week at the armored car standing—unoccupied—in the center of West Maple road. No driver was in sight, and surrounding the stranded fortress was a cordon of Birmingham's finest. Do you suppose Brinkmen were in having a cup of coffee and taking no chances? Or hoofing to the nearest gas station?

FASCINATING is the word for the ailment being described by a Woodward avenue shopper the other day. She is the proud possessor of a "new affliction for people over forty." Something for everybody.

Saturday Nuptials Unite Two Birmingham Families

Two local families were joined Saturday when Nancy Carolyn Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harrison Fisher of Abbey road, became the bride of William George Plant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fletcher Plant of Yarmouth road.

The nuptials took place at two o'clock Saturday afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church before the Rev. W. Glen Harris.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was gowned in an ankle-length dress of chandilly lace over white satin. Her costume was distinguished by a squared neckline with a net insert, and long pointed sleeves over the wrists.

Her round lace cap was edged with seed pearls and held an illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered with gardenias.

WHITE EYELET and aqua taffeta formed the ballgown-length gown of honor attendant Marsha Miller. Her costume was topped with a white eyelet bolero jacket. She carried a portrait bouquet of white and aqua daisies and baby's breath.

FOLLOWING A reception at Oakland Hills, the newlyweds left on a motor trip through Northern Michigan. For traveling the bride chose a black and white linen suit with red accessories.

The couple will make their home in East Lansing. The groom expects to enter the Army in the fall.

MRS. WILLIAM GEORGE PLANT

where they will spend the summer on a trip sponsored by the Bureau of University Travel. The girls will return the end of August and resume their stay in the fall. Frances is a junior at Kingswood school, and Carolyn will enter her sophomore year at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Carol Black and Kathleen Berry gave a surprise party for Joan Keeney at the Berry's cottage on Watkins Lake last Wednesday. Joan, now a resident of Southfield road, is moving away. Feigning the honor guest were Ann Borchert, Linda Ball, Judy Frost, Polly Vliet, Elizabeth Cobb, Nancy Tischer, Mary Ann Bates, Ruth Wall and Betty Aldred.

News copy submitted early normally is given preference over late items. So the "Early Bird" usually gets the space.

Family Tradition Pervades Setting Of Saturday Vows

When Marilyn Eisenbach stood at the altar of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church Saturday afternoon, to become the bride of Edward Laird, the setting itself was "something old."

Her parents and grandparents had repeated their nuptial vows on the same altar in years past.

The bride's only jewelry was "something new", a gift of pearls from the groom.

MR. AND MRS. Victor Eisenbach of Detroit are the bride's parents. Edward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Laird of George street.

For the four o'clock ceremony the bride wore a gown of organdy and lace. Organically formed her skirt, and the bodice was fashioned of lace. A fingertip veil of Swiss imported illusion fell from a Juliet cap, and the bridal bouquet was of white carnations surrounded by lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Joseph Piper of Dearborn was the matron of honor. Her white organdy gown fell over min green taffeta and was highlighted by a white picture hat. She carried white roses and sweet-peas.

IN SIMILAR ORGANDY gowns were bridesmaids Ruth Ann Eisenbach and Geraldine Burke of Hollywood. Ruth Ann, the bride's sister, wore an orchid underskirt and Geraldine's gown featured a yellow underskirt.

From Essex, Conn., came Bart Grimes, the best man. Ushers included Donald Laird, Albert J. Wetlaufer of Green Point, and Lloyd Wheeler and Larry Eckelston of Ann Arbor.

A gown of toast nylon was worn with white accessories by Mrs. Eisenbach. A purple orchid complemented her costume.

Mrs. Laird chose a dress of dusty pink crepe with a lace jacket for the service.

AFTER THE nuptials an informal reception took place at the home of the bride's parents. When leaving on a wedding trip to the upper peninsula, the bride changed to a navy suit with white accessories, and wore a carnation from her bride's bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Laird will make their home in Ann Arbor while the groom finishes his studies at the University of Michigan.

A son, Larry Alan, was born June 7 to MR. AND MRS. LEONARD A. KUROWSKI of Oakland avenue.

A son, Glen Bentley, was born June 13 to MR. AND MRS. DONALD H. HOAGG of Smith street.
