

Sandra Puls to Address Class

Sandra Puls, Birmingham High School student, will address the Ruth Shain International Relations Class at their next session, Tuesday morning, March 18.

Miss Puls, winner of the DAR Good Citizenship award, and the United Fund essay contest on the Torch Drive, will relate her visit to the United Nations Institute in February.

Her trip was sponsored by the Birmingham Rotary Club, an award for her prize-winning essay, "Youth For Understanding" in the Rotary contest.

Miss Puls and other visitors to the Institute, held at New York University, heard delegates to the United Nations express the aims of the UN, its origin, procedure, and the handling of the Korean situation.

THE FOLLOWING Tuesday, March 25, the Class will hold a public meeting at which Russell Barnes will speak and be available for questions and answers.

BARRIE O'DANIELS TALKS TO HIGH SCHOOL DRAMA CLUB
New group announces plans for Spring performances. (Hank Weber Photo)

Detroit Producer Guest of B'ham High Drama Groups

At the invitation of the newly-formed Birmingham High School Drama Club, Barrie O'Daniels visited the last meeting and talked to the members on the rewards of working in the theater.

O'Daniels, producer and director of Detroit's recent Theater-In-The-Round stock company, is a well-known and colorful figure in mid-western theatrical circles.

He has spent twenty-five years acting, directing and producing various plays and musical shows, and is well-remembered as the producer of Detroit's Civic Light Opera last year and in previous seasons.

O'Daniels spoke of his experiences, answered questions and closed his talk with a few brief lessons in the technique of acting.

His remarks were of special interest, since the club has just announced plans for three one-act plays to be staged in the new High School auditorium May 14-17. Casts and student directors were recently elected.

Organized are Mrs. Allan Lutz, Mrs. Lawton Tabor, and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Coffin.

Approximately 50 students are active in the new group, headed by Gail Burlingame.

Scheduled for Spring presentation are "Novellette," "In the Zone" and "The Voice of the People".
