MRS. DONALD MAUNDERS

Bride Selects Satin For Friday Evening Nuptials

A gown of traditional ivory satin was chosen by Nancy Lina MacQueen for her Friday evening nuptials to Donald Charles Maunders.

The couple, repeated their vows before the Rev. Glen Harris at the First Presbyterian Church. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Henry MacQueen of Bedford road, carried a white prayer book centered with a white orchid, surrounded with stephanotis.

Her gown was fashioned with an off-shoulder neckline bordered with a duchesse lace cuff. Her full skirt fell into a cathedral train from an appliqued fitted bodice. The bride's shirred illusion cap was trimmed in satin.

PRECEDING the bride down the aisle were her sister Barbara Jean, the maid of honor, and attendants Mrs. Vincent Seontine and Mrs. Hugh Ross Mack, Jr. All wore floor length gowns of apple green nylon net skirts and lace jackets with velvet sashes of a darker green. Their starched veiling caps were of a matching shade.

The bridesmaids' bouquets were formed of sweet peas, with the honor attendant carrying varicolored sweet peas and trailing ivy.

Joseph Maunders was his brother's best man. Both are sons of the late Dr. and Mrs. Maunders. The bride's brother, Kenneth H. MacQueen, Jr., Elton Kerr, Douglas Ferguson, and Endres M. Campbell of Pittsburgh ushered.

A FLOOR-LENGTH gown of powder blue lace and chiffon was selected by Mrs. MacQueen for her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. Endres M. Campbell, sister of the groom, was in a gown fashioned with a white lace top and silk marquisette skirt over a pale blue slip. She and Mrs. MacQueen wore corsages of pink carnations.

After a reception at Botsford Inn, Mr. and Mrs. Maunders departed for Florida, Jamaica and Cuba. For travelling the bride chose a pale beige straw hat, alligator shoes and a purse.

They will make their home on Bates street on their return.

Deane Cramer Claims Bride At Des Moines, Iowa, Rites

Localite Deane Cramer claimed Mary Merley for his bride in a ceremony Sunday, March 23, in the chapel of the First Methodist Church of Des Moines, Iowa.

Making the trip to Des Moines for the rites were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Cramer of Pilgrimage road, and his brother Brant who performed the duties of best man.

For the informal ceremony the bride wore a shell pink and silver shantung dress with a short veil. Her bouquet was of gardenias and Fleur-de-amor.

The bride's sister, Peggy Merley, was her only attendant. Her pale aqua gown and navy accessories were highlighted with yellow carnations and green ivy.

Among the ushers was Bud Gasser of Birmingham.

THE BRIDE'S sister, Elaine Merley, hosted a reception in her home following the nuptials. She received her guests in a lavender and beige sheer gown with beaded accessories and a corsage of spray roses.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Cramer wore a navy sheer gown and pale pink accessories, with a corsage of shell pink carnations completing her costume.

FROM THE reception the newlyweds left on a motor trip which will include two days in Birmingham.

The bride will graduate in June from MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Ill. Her husband is a senior at Illinois College, also in Jacksonville, where they will reside until June.

After July 1, the couple will make their home in Birmingham.

Florida Honeyymoon Before Return to Studies at MSC

Honeymooning in Florida before returning to classes at Michigan State College, are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sanders Shepard who were married Saturday evening at the Mayflower Congregational Church, Detroit.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Philip Sarles at eight o'clock in the evening.

The bride is the former Mary Islay Peden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Peden of Pierce street, who was married Saturday evening at the Mayflower Congregational Church, Detroit.

FOR the candlelit service, the bride wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace combined with nylon tulle. Her fitted lace bodice was bordered with an applique of lovers' knots, as were her matching lace gauntlets.

Illusion lace formed short puffed sleeves and the neckline of her gown. The bride's full tulle skirt felt over white satin and was accented with an occasional lovin's knot.

The bride wore a small satin cloche detailed with iridescent edging. Her veil was of illusion lace. White roses and ivory formed her bouquet.

Maid of honor Martha Miller and bridesmaids Ruth Oldberg and Barbara Devereux were in identical ballerina-length gowns of Nile green net over yellow taffeta. Matching net and shadow veils completed their costumes.

The honor attendant carried a colonial bouquet of violets centered with a shell pink rose. Violet colonial bouquets were carried by the bridesmaids.

CLARENCE W. SHEPARD, JR., performed the duties of best man for his brother, Usher, who was the Pixer of Rochester, Robert Ling of Chicago and Arthur Fetters of Grose Pointe.

FOR the ceremony and the reception at Rotunda Inn which followed, Mrs. Peden selected a gown of French blue lace over taffeta with matching shoes and gloves. She pinned carnations to her purse.

Mrs. Shepard was in a navy blue lace gown over taffeta with shell pink gloves and hat with tiny flowers. She fastened pink roses to her purse.

WHEN the COUPLE left for Ft. Lauderdale, the bride was wearing a tan shade suit with a matching straw hat and accessories, topped with a white wool coat.

On their return they will make their home at East Lansing while they continue their studies at Michigan State College.
