Southfield High PTSA Outlines Program for Year

The Southfield High School PTSA organization has announced their program for the 1952-53 year.

Highlights include November 25, "What About Universal Military Training?"; January 27, "Teen-Age Problems As Seen by Teen-Agers"; March 31, "A Day in Southfield"; April 10, "Fun Night"; and May 26, "Vocational Guidance".

A special effort was made in setting up the program to make it interesting and worthwhile to the three groups who make up the membership of the PTSA: parents, teachers and students.

At the OCTOBER meeting of the executive board, a membership of 306 parents, 28 teachers and 44 students was reported by Mrs. Ed Lloyd, mother vice-president of the association.

Safety chairman H. Basler reported that conferences and surveys by the Automobile Club will result in the placement of "school zones" signs on Lahser road at the entrance to the high school, and further consideration of the need of a traffic light there.

Grade chairmen gave enthusiastic reports on the success of the recent "get-acquainted hours". In all, 506 parents attended.
