

Assuming that you may become angered when another says or does something which you do not wish to do, yourself, do wrong in getting angry. For why should one pay personal tribute to an evil by allowing that evil to upset his mental balance?

Needlework Guild Sets Ingathering Date

The culmination of a year's work will be "harvested" November 6 at the Community House when the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills branch of the Needlework Guild of America will hold its annual Ingathering.

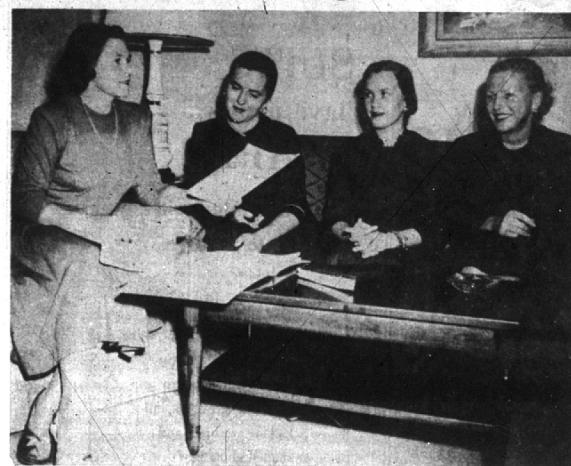

Each fall the guild gathers thousands of garments made by members throughout the year, and distributes them to worthy institutions.

Last year over three thousand garments were given to local charities and agencies, including the Family Center, St. Joseph's Clinic, the Juvenile Home, Sister Kenny Polio Center, the Congdon Hospital of Oakland County, the Welfare Commission of Oakland County, and the American Red Cross of which the Needlework Guild is the only affiliated member.

PLANS FOR this year's Ingathering Day were initiated at an October 8 luncheon for board members at Orchard Lake Country Club with Rev. Benjamin Brewster, outgoing president of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills branch, the hostess.

Guests included Mrs. William L. Graham, Mrs. Glen Miller, Ingathering chairman; Mrs. Robert W. Woodruff, Mrs. William H. Bresch, Mrs. William Thomas, Mrs. Parsons Neff, Mrs. Kenneth McGregor, three new board members, Mrs. Lloyd H. Diehl, Jr., Mrs. Wesley Wright and Mrs. Parbury Schmidt.

ALSO OUTLINING plans was Mrs. Lawrence C. Howe, chairman of the Ingathering breakfast which will be held at eleven o'clock in the morning of Ingathering Day.

'Get Acquainted' Hours Highlight PTSA's Calendar

The third of a series of four "get acquainted" hours under the sponsorship of the Southfield High PTSA will be held October 20.

Previous "get acquainted" hours included parents, teachers and students of the 9th, 10th and 11th grades. The October 20 meeting will be held for the 8th grade group.

These meetings are specifically designed to help the parents, teachers and students know each other better, and to make possible more complete cooperation in program planning.

THE FIRST fall meeting of the PTSA was attended by 411 people. The group included 212 new adult members and 37 students.

The association is encouraged by the response and hopes that student participation will become even greater as the program develops.

Faculty members were introduced, and the women presented with corsages and the men with boutonnières. The Mother Singers Group from the Vetal School in Detroit presented musical program.

HIGHLIGHT of these coffee hours is an informal presentation by Mrs. VanAmeyde, principal of the school, with an opportunity for the parents to ask questions.

Rotary Anns Hear Talk On Ceramics

A talk on ceramics will be presented by Mrs. A. K. Toepfer at the October 20 meeting of the Rotary Anns.

Hostess for the one o'clock luncheon meeting on Friday, October 20, will be Mrs. William DeGraff of 961 Fairfax road. Mrs. Webster Scheffele is in charge of the luncheon.

Assisting her will be Mrs. Walter R. Fauser, Mrs. J. H. Achten, and Mrs. Paul C. Grant.

Society deadline is 3 p.m. each Tuesday.

Suburban Seen

ONE LEARNS a great deal from antiques and the stories in their pasts. According to the hundreds who attended the recent Piety Hill Antique Show at the Community House, a vast segment of the local population is far wiser in the intricacies of old furniture, pressed and blown glass, pottery, primitives, silver, miniature wax portraits and the like.

Among the rarities found in a few minutes stroll was an exhibit of American "coin glass," which was made for a period of only two months. When zealous government agents discovered American coinage being imprinted in the glass they put their official feet down.

In the same booth was a tea caddy of quill work, made by winding paper around quills and fastening it to the box. Different, but not guaranteed to last a lifetime—which it has.

Standing next to a salt glaze teapot made by Littler before 1760 was some of the first porcelain ever made. Bow of England made these pieces copying his design from the Chinese, using the primus flower for his design.

Of timely interest was a relic from a former presidential campaign—A Harrison-Reid lantern. Many of the lamps in this particular display showed their designs only when the lamp is lit, suggesting a tie-up between maker and candle purveyor.

A serpentine desk made in 1760 and attributed to Benjamin Frothingham vied for attention with an English game table of 1760. Completing a "harvest table" set were duck bill Windsor chairs. Also in the collection was a 1720 table with porringer top and hoof foot revealing its Southern background.

Other eye-catchers were a fighting-cock weathervane, a Hepplewhite chest with the original painted decorations, a Philadelphia lowboy of the 18th century, a 1690 Pilgrim gateleg table, a plantation pine cupboard and an old apothecary chest.

MRS. ROBERT WATT, from whom these notes were borrowed, points out that antique pieces become interesting with knowledge of periods and makers. The Baldwin library has many books which should be studied before the next antique show.

Among them are Albert Sachs on furniture and Ruth Webb Lee's volume on Early American Glass.

DAR Members Meet After Show

After staging their second Antique Show, members of Piety Hill chapter of the DAR held their October meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. I. Vinton Joy.

The speaker of the day was Mrs. Rutherford C. Scott who presented a book review of "Washington Profile" by Bess Furman. Mrs. Birch, who raises her own flowers, decorated her home and the tea table with floral arrangements.

Assisting the hostess at the tea table were Mrs. Charles Butts, Mrs. J. R. Bartholomew, Mrs. Leroy Braisted and Mrs. Markham Cheever.

MEMBERS brought Christmas gifts for servicemen. Mrs. Steele R. Sellers of Arlington road, heads the committee in charge of wrapping and mailing the gifts.

Pre-Election Weeks Full For B'ham LWV

Birmingham members of the League of Women Voters have circled October 20 and October 29 on their calendars. These are the dates of a general League meeting and a community meeting for all citizens.

On the 20th League members will gather at the Municipal Building from 9:30 until 11:30 a.m. Irene Hanley, city clerk, will demonstrate procedures used in instructing others in the use of voting machines.

The demonstration will be followed by a report on the Reapportionment chairman on the three amendments to the state constitution on the November ballot.

THE OCTOBER 29 meeting, sponsored by the LWV international affairs committee, will pertain to questions on foreign policy.

The panel program, prepared at a workshop-day October 15, will be followed by open discussion.

Entitled "The Citizen and Foreign Policy in '52", questions put to the panel will include "Why aren't U. N. members doing more in Korea?", "Why didn't we be concerned about U. S. policies in international trade," and "Should the U. S. lower tariffs when such action offers competition to an American business?"

All interested citizens are invited to be in the audience at eight o'clock Wednesday evening, October 29, at the Community House.

THE LWV ANNOUNCES

that Mrs. William H. Brooks has several copies remaining of "On the Record", a publication in which the most significant bills on foreign policy and national economic policy put before Congress in the past six years are explained.

Voting records of senators and congressmen are included.

FROM OCTOBER 25 through November 1 the Voters' Service Committee will sponsor a real voting machine in daily operation for all comers to practice upon.

The machine, in Himehoth's window on West Maple, will be manned by two people at a time who will demonstrate its operation. Information on the reapportionment issue will be available there also.

THE LWV'S FINANCE drive is in its final weeks, with a quota 30% higher than last year.

Among those who have already turned in comprehensive reports on assignments in the drive are Mrs. John Hartwell, Mrs. Richard Remer, Mrs. D. R. Strigley, Mrs. Harold Kennedy, Mrs. Herman Hilverkus and Mrs. John May.

New LWV members include the Mesdames W. E. Rice, William A. Coombs II, Mark Smith, Leroy Zider, G. D. Clapperton, Elliot Robinson, Robert Dearth, William Loui Arthur S. Griswold, Robert Savage, Harner Selvidge, T. E. DeGurse, Dean Beier and Andrew Howlett.
