

Residents Oppose Plant Operations

Nearly 50 residents of Southfield township were present at the board meeting Tuesday night to protest the operations of the AAA Sanitation Service company at 19424 Eight Mile.

Residents complained that trucks of the firm were using a residential lot on Mapleidge as an entrance to its plant. They also protested his dumping of septic tank wastes out on the open ground at the rear of their homes.

Supervisor William Rooser assured the audience that steps would be taken against the company if they failed to heed the directives of the township.

Craft Classes At Y

Craft classes for boys and girls are being held in the Birmingham Y each Saturday morning at 10 a.m. under adult leadership. Last week the youngsters made false faces for Halloween. This week they will begin work in ceramics. Any boy or girl who is a member of the Y and interested is asked to apply for admission to the classes. Craft materials are furnished at cost.

'King of Kings' Program

The Southfield Presbyterian church will sponsor the showing of Cecil B. DeMille's famous film, "The King of Kings" at the church this Sunday evening. The program is open to the public.

Taxicab Stands Are Moved To New Locations

By the end of next week, the city's two taxicab companies will be operating from new cab stands. Monday night city commissioners approved Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley's recommendation which will remove the stands from the Maple-Woodward intersection. New locations will be on the east side of Pierce street at Maple, the east side of Henricetta at Maple, the south side of Merrill at Woodward, and the east side of Woodward just north of the Bloomfield theater.

Services Tuesday For C. H. Booth, Noted Financier

Clarence H. Booth, 76, of Grosse Pointe, died in Jennings hospital on Oct. 26. He collapsed at his home last Tuesday evening after attending the Jubilee celebration at Cranbrook.

A cousin of the late George G. Booth, founder of Cranbrook Institute, he was a native of Toronto.

Services were held Tuesday morning, from the William R. Hamilton chapel in Detroit with burial in Woodlawn cemetery.

Leader in Michigan finance, manufacturing and publishing circles, Mr. Booth came to Detroit in 1887 and became manager of the Steel Bath Manufacturing company. He purchased this business in 1900 and seven years later organized the Pressed Steel Sanitary Manufacturing Co. This firm merged with the Studebaker company in 1909 and after four years Mr. Booth became manager of the new firm.

In 1919 he organized the Motors Bankers Corp., serving as its president and chairman of the board until the liquidation of the company in 1940 when he retired.

For many years he made his home on Lone Pine road in Bloomfield Hills and was on the boards of trustees of Cranbrook, Kingswood and Erasmus schools. He also was a vestryman and the first treasurer of Christ Church Cranbrook.

FOR MANY YEARS, he was treasurer and director of the Booth Newspapers, publishers of daily papers in eight Michigan cities.

Mr. Booth also served as president of the Bank of Dearborn, chairman of the Highland Park State bank, Highland Park Trust company and a director of the Guardian Union group.

A member of the Woodward Avenue Baptist church of Detroit, he served as chairman of its board of trustees for some time.

He was a member of the Detroit club, Bloomfield Hills country club, Detroit country club and the Detroit Boat club.

Mr. Booth is survived by his widow, Clara Coleman Booth, whom he married in 1898; three children, Mrs. J. Frazer Whitehead, Miss Frances M. Booth and George C. Booth; eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.
