Kingswood Holds Political Rally

A full scale political rally with placards, authentic posters and platform debates was staged by the history students of Kingswood School Cranbrook, Monday, Oct. 27, before the entire student body, which was invited to participate with questions and floor criticism.

Climaxed by an "election" the following day, the rally was based on extensive research into the backgrounds and records of the major political parties. After such general study, students were arbitrarily divided into "Republicans" and "Democrats", and campaign committees set up.

The "stump" speakers continued their campaigning the next day at 7:30 p.m. at the Birmingham Community House at a meeting of the Altrusa Club.
