

Democratic Club To Hear Campaign Issues Discussion

Democratic candidates, headed by Gov. C. Mennen Williams, will be met by local Democrats on Thursday, Oct. 16, at 8 p.m. at the studio of Mrs. Dorothy K. Roosevelt, 292 Greenwood, chairman of the Birmingham Democratic club.

Campaign issues, under the general heading, "A Change to What?" will be discussed by the group.

Edward D. Connor of the Detroit common council will have charge of the discussion with panel members Earl C. Kelley of Birmingham and the Wayne university department of education; Kathleen Lowrie, former administrator of the Michigan wage hour office for the U. S. department of labor; Max Miller, Franklin manufacturer, and Harry C. Markle of Rochester, former director of the Michigan employment and security commission.

Candidates are not scheduled for the time of their appearances but will attend the meeting as other engagements permit.

STICKY PROBLEM—Using a long-pronged pole to pluck prickly pears from their thorny plants, a Sardinian peasant girl of Cagliari harvests one of the crops that grow in overabundance on that primitive island. The fruit, used as a table serving on the mainland, is according to restriction, used only as livestock feed by the islanders.
