Localite Wed September 6 In Indiana

June Katherine Richter of Niles became the bride of John David Hemsteger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Hemsteger of Birmingham boulevard, on September 6 at Christ the King Church in Rose-land, Ind.

The eleven o'clock ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast after which a reception was held in the garden of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Richter.

The bride gown was fashioned of embroidered Swiss organdy over a bouffant skirt of taffeta. The waist-length veil of nylon net was gathered into a Juliet cap of pleated organdy.

The bride carried a shower bouquet of stenositis centered with a white orchid.

Her three attendants were gowned alike in mist green taffeta with draped organdy aprons and matching halo bouquets. They carried baskets of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

A navy blue lace afternoon dress with a small pink feathered hat and gloves were chosen by Mrs. Richter for her daughter's wedding. Her flowers were deep pink cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Hemsteger wore a taupe silk shantung dress with matching hat and gloves. Her corsage was of brown cymbidium orchids.

The couple will return to Michigan State College to complete their studies after a Northern Michigan honeymoon.

Ever popular, ever attractive; here is the neatest possible example of a three-bedroom home of this desirable architecture.

Pre-War built on a 100 ft. lot with mature planting and many trees. The living room is 24 ft. long (fireplace), separate, generous sized dining room, bright, cheery breakfast room with built-in cupboards, screened porch. In addition to the basement recreation room—for the older child there is a study room and complete bath, or this might be ideal for the man who wants an "office at home".

You will be impressed by the convenience of the many built-in cupboards, linen closets, clothes closets, first floor lavatory, book shelves. Gladly shown by appointment.
