From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

No Longer Two Sides to This Question!

Ever seen those two-family houses they have in some places—with separate front doors and porches—side by side? My sister owns half of one and lives in it, near Philadelphia.

Nice little frame home. Only six painted her half brown and the other family always painted theirs green. Ruined the effect—but for years neither family ever thought of suggesting that they both decide on a common shade.

Now Sis writes that their two-toned home is no longer. "I mentioned we were going to repaint," she says. "And they said let's give a color we all like. So we did. A nice shade of gray for both sides."

From where I sit, so often when there's a difference of opinion it's best to sit tight down and work things out (like when our volunteer firemen decided to serve both lemonade and beer at their annual picnic last month). Don't let prejudiced "color" your opinion of your neighbor. He'll probably be quite an open-minded as you are.

To Our Friends and Neighbors from DEAN COFFIN, Inc.

348 EAST MAPLE BIRMINGHAM

Our Janitor was working late the other night, emptying a few waste paper baskets and sort of nusing on the state of the business. It was time to write another ad but he didn't quite know how to begin. He felt like Scheherazade, the Arabian dame who had a thousand and one stories to tell the Sultan. Hard to decide sometimes what part of the business you're going to talk about.

Maybe this ad could tell the people about the remarkable savings a family can make on the Dean Coffin, Inc. food plan. Or how about an essay on the exquisite tenderness and flavor of the steaks and roasts we are delivering to peoples' homes, at quantity discount prices?

Winter's coming along. Our Janitor could just see that sloppy slush and sleet underfoot and shiver with all those hard-working housewives trying to do their marketing every other day or so in the dead of winter. Why not remind them of how convenient it is on a snowy, sloppy day to have a small grocery store in your basement, a freezer filled with meats, fish, poultry, vegetables, fruits, ice cream, bread, butter and stuff, all of it just a few steps away from the kitchen. What a convenience! 60 seconds to shop! What a saving in time, money, and health for a busy housewife. Nope. Not snowing outside yet. Save that for later.

What about the vitamins in these frozen vegetables and fruits? How many people know that top quality frozen foods are picked, washed, sorted, and frozen hard in a few hours... so that there is very little vitamin loss? These so-called "fresh" vegetables in the stores have, many times, been on the road and on display for several days before they get into the pan. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that green beans can lose as much as 60 per cent of their vitamins and minerals in the first 48 hours after they are picked. What a story that is! What a wonderful reason to have a home freezer, and to buy these fresher-than-fresh vegetables and fruit at quantity discount prices. Hmmm. Hard story to tell in a few words.

Our Janitor sat down at the boss's desk and began leafing through our customer list. His eye fell on the name of one of our customers over on Yosemite, a fine young chap with three kids and a lovely hard working wife. He picked up the phone and called them. "Just inquiring as to how you're enjoying this Dean Coffin, Inc. freezer-and-food service," says he. And here's what our customer said. Honest:

"We are infinitely pleased with the entire plan. We are even putting up vegetables and fruits ourselves. The time we spend doing that is far less than the time I used to spend in shopping. We have a completely new feeling of independence in our house. We have time to do the things we have to do without that horrible feeling of haste. We'll be happy to tell anybody you want exactly how we feel."

Our Janitor thanked them and hung up. Wonderful feeling to have customers feel that way. Picks up your spirit, makes you feel your job has dignity and importance, that you're contributing something to the health, and convenience, and economy of other people. Can't write an ad about it, though. Hard to get across. Sounds too good to be true.

Cordially,
Dean Coffin, Inc.
